SUGGEST WAYS TO CUT LOSSES IN BUSINESS

"Management Week" to Be Devoted to Decreasing Commercial Failures

TO SIMPLIFY METHODS U. S. Department of Commerce Watching Progress at Series of Meetings

Washington.—Deter management and simplified practice are the remedies which the federal government informally has suggested to industry as among the ways to cut down the number of commercial failures which are annually recorded in the United States.

The department of commerce is co-operating with various business committees throughout the country in the holding of conferences in what is known as Management week, starting next Monday. Ever since 1921 when the Hoover committee on the elimination of waste brought in a report that the responsibility for 50 per cent of the waste was on management and only 25 per cent on labor there has been a growing recognition that information on sound management is an essential to business success.

Of the 135,000 business failures from 1920 to 1927, inclusive, with total liabilities of more than three and a half billions of dollars, it is estimated by statistical authorities that "incompetence" is the cause of 35 per cent of the cases and that "lack of capital" is the reason for 33 per cent more. Causes for the other 32 per cent are scattered among "inexperience," "extravagance," "speculation," "fraud" etc.

MAKE STUDY OF METHODS
Insofar as "incompetence" expresses a defect in managerial ability, efforts are made to overcome it by intensive study and application of methods that have helped others to success. Oftentimes "lack of capital" results due to the being up of too much money in slow moving merchandise. Simplified practice is intended to help the business man cut down his inventory and get quicker turnovers and better profits.

Simultaneous meetings of an educational character will therefore be held in a number of cities in the hope of promoting a greater interest in the aims, purposes and duties of management under the general theme "management's part in maintaining prosperity."

Last year there were 252 meetings held in more than 100 cities with a combined attendance of executives, business leaders, engineers and others interested in man cement totaling about 20,000 persons.

SPONSORS OF MEETING
The organizations sponsoring this year's series of meetings are the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Society of Industrial Engineers, the Taylor society, the American Management association, the American Institute of Accountants, the National Association of Purchasing Agents, the National Association of Foremen, the National Association of Office Managers and the Life Office Management association.

The department of commerce is keeping in close touch with the conference because it serves as a centralizing agency in bringing producers, distributors and all users of specific commodities together in the hope of bringing them into mutual agreement on simplification of sizes, standards and varieties of products. The date there are 75 named recommendations in various industries with 25 additional projects actively under consideration at the department of commerce.

BROTHER OF QUEEN MARY DIES AFTER OPERATION

Shrewsbury, England.—(P)—The marquis of Cambridge, brother of Queen Mary, died at 5:05 Monday afternoon. The marquis, who lived at Shute hall near Shrewsbury, had been in poor health for several days. Sunday night he became violently ill and was removed to a nursing home where an operation was performed Monday morning to relieve an internal complaint.

SHOE MANUFACTURER, BORN HERE, IS DEAD

Madison.—(P)—Edward C. Wolfman, ex-president of the Badger State Shoe company, died Sunday after two months' illness. Born in Appleton, he came to Watertown. His factories were in Madison, Lake Mills, Watertown and Verona. He is survived by his father, who lives in Madison, and his daughter, Mrs. A. C. Goehring, Jamesville.

Archbishop Attempts To Settle War On Evolution

London.—(P)—The letter of the archbishop of Canterbury, reproving the bishop of Birmingham, who is an adherent to the theory of evolution and a foe of the doctrine of transubstantiation, was regarded Monday as confirming the primacy of reputation as a diplomatist and peace-maker. Views differed as to the effect the letter would produce upon the controversy.

The archbishop, in writing the bishop of Birmingham, the Right Rev. Ernest William Barnes, in answer to the latter's open letter, chided him on the manner in which he had voiced his views.

The denunciation of the doctrine of transubstantiation was legitimate, the archbishop wrote, but he deplored that Bishop Barnes had spoken "of the holy communion in a way which—quite reasonably, I think—gives offense to great body of churchmen and churchwomen." The archbishop declared he thought this was unintentional.

The general view of the latest letter is that it has poured oil on the troubled waters but it is questioned whether it will allay the storm.

Cardinal Bourne, Roman Catholic archbishop of West Minister, in his sermon Sunday, referred to the controversy among the members of the "Elizabethan church." He declared the whole fabric of protestantism in England had been reared upon falsehood concerning the Roman Catholic church. He asserted that Bishop Barnes' reference to real presence was grossly offensive, and contended that he traversed the entire doctrine of transubstantiation.

The archbishop of Canterbury, to the latest letter in the controversy, declared in regard to Bishop Barnes' sermons:

"I do not attach great weight to what I have heard described as 'the Gorilla sermons. I believe you overstate the adherence of thoughtful people to the creation theories of fifty or one hundred years ago, and I sincerely think that among those who listen to you there are a great number holding the opinions you satirize."

The establishment of a woman's auxiliary to the reserve officers association was suggested in the report of Brig. General Roy Hoffmann, Oklahoma City, president of the national association.

Other officers who reported during the morning routine of business were Lieut. Col. Orvel Johnson, Washington, secretary, and Col. E. A. Hartman, treasurer, Washington.

Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, Milwaukee, extended a welcome to the reservists on behalf of the city, and response was made by Col. Noble Brandon Judah, Chicago, vice president for the Sixth corps area.

Enrollment Monday morning was under 200, but nearly every state in the union, is represented, according to convention officials. Most of the delegates are appearing in army uniform.

STATE PROPERTY TAX SET AT $6,776,973

Secretary of State Certifies Figures to County Officials of Wisconsin

Madison.—(P)—A state levy of $6,776,973.61 was certified Monday by county officials by the secretary of state's office. This money, which would probably have been remitted under the old income tax law, is to be raised to meet delay of incoming funds next year, caused by the changes in the income tax law by the 1927 legislature. Under the old law the income taxes would have been paid in after March 4, 1928.

Under the revised income tax law, passed by the legislature, incomes of the fiscal year of 1927 and '28 which ends June 30, 1928, will come in after that date. Taxes levied today will be paid by May 1, 1928, filling in the state's treasury in the interim between the old date of income tax payment and the delayed date.

Milwaukee.—(P)—The tax—the largest—is $1,827,438 while Dane County is apportioned $538,049 of the tax.

Other more populous counties are to pay on this levy as follows: Ashland, $27,339; Chippewa, $68,533; Eau Claire, $78,971; Fond du Lac, $14,757; Green, $68,034; Kenosha, $131,594; La Crosse, $91,538; Manitowish, $145,138; Marinette, $44,358; Racine, $243,142; Sheboygan, $148,192; Waushara, $111,732; Oconto, $33,623; Brown, $128,750; Rock, $168,715; Wood, $58,198; Langlade, $34,492; Lincoln, $41,552; Douglas, $101,311; Oneida, $27,335.

The levy is divided into university, normal and common school funds. Governor Zimmerman said Monday that he would probably have no statement to make concerning the tax levy.

ADVANCE HIGH COURT HEARING IN RICH CASE

Washington, D. C.—(P)—The appeal of Arthur Rich, son of a wealthy manufacturer of Battle Creek, Mich., convicted in Michigan of criminal assault and sentenced to prison for life, was advanced by the supreme court hearing Nov. 21.

BROKEN VALVE FORCES DAWN BACK TO LAND

Third Failure Won't Stop Another Attempt to Fly to Copenhagen

Old Orchard, Me.—(P)—A broken exhaust valve which, but for good fortune, might have caused an explosion of the motor and sent the plane Dawn into the sea was found Monday by T. Harold Kinkaid, motor expert, in his investigation of the trouble which forced the Grayson plane to return Sunday after a five hour flight toward Europe.

Kinkaid said that a flaw in the metal plus a crystallization about the piston of the No. 2 cylinder had broken off the valve. The fact that the cylinder is on top of the engine caused the valve to drop. The piston on the upstroke jammed it back into place. But for that, he said, the whole top of the motor might have blown off.

Notwithstanding three failures after starting a trans-Atlantic flight, Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson was determined to make another attempt to get to Copenhagen in the monoplane.

The time for the next attempt depends on favorable weather and the condition of the motor, which practically failed during Sunday's flight, after the machine had covered more than 450 miles of its outward trip.

Mrs. Grayson, who is in command of the expedition, and has as aids, Erice Goldsborough, navigator, and Wilmer Stultz, pilot, was undaunted by the successive reverses and delays which have been their fate for nearly two months. That no abandonment was contemplated until weather conditions make such action absolutely imperative, it was seen by the quick telegraphed requests which recalled T. Harold Kinkaid, Wright motor expert, and Ivor Sikorsky, designer of the Dawn, Kinkaid and Sikorsky left for New York after the Copenhagen-bound machine got under way.

NEAR SABLE ISLAND
The machine had nearly reached Sable island, off the tip of Nova Scotia, when a sudden gust of wind, accompanied by a great quantity of smoke poured out, as Stultz described the difficulty.

The fliers feared it might blow up. Goldsborough jumped to the gasoline release lever and for the third time the plane was saved by the speedy release of a part of its load of fuel.

Twice before when the big ship seemed headed for the waves in taking off, here, it was righted by the quick release mechanism. Freed of 200 gallons of gasoline the plane rose rapidly.

The Dawn was headed back on "one and a half engines" and the return trip was made without further incident.

The take-off had been made in perfect weather. The Dawn hopped off at 6:15 and came back ten hours later after reaching the vicinity of Sable island, off the coast of Nova Scotia. The aviators calculated they had covered 844 miles.

HEAVY EARTH SHOCKS ARE REGISTERED AT STATIONS

Ann Arbor, Mich.—(P)—Very violent earthquake shocks were recorded on the seismograph at the University of Michigan observatory between 11:20 Monday morning, Prof. Ralph H. Curtis, director, estimated the location as southwestern United States or Mexico.

2.78 MILES DISTANT
New York.—(P)—An earthquake 2.78 miles away, described as "the largest in years," was recorded by the seismograph at Fordham university Monday. Officials there said the tremors were "tremendous." The seismograph recorded the first shocks at 10:18 Monday morning eastern standard time.

Lausling, Mich.—(P)—Judge Walter H. North, Battle Creek, was appointed supreme court justice by Governor Green Monday to succeed Justice Brennan. A. S. North, of the Thirty-seventh circuit made up in Calhoun county, Justice Snow died suddenly last Thursday.

North was born in Hallsdale, Mich., in 1872. He graduated from Hillsdale college and University of Michigan. After a wide practice he went to Calhoun circuit bench, in 1906 and has served there continuously. The governor was deluged with requests that he appoint judges and attorneys as Justice Snow's successor.

FILL SUPREME COURT VACANCY IN MICHIGAN
Lausling, Mich.—(P)—Judge Walter H. North, Battle Creek, was appointed supreme court justice by Governor Green Monday to succeed Justice Brennan. A. S. North, of the Thirty-seventh circuit made up in Calhoun county, Justice Snow died suddenly last Thursday.

North was born in Hallsdale, Mich., in 1872. He graduated from Hillsdale college and University of Michigan. After a wide practice he went to Calhoun circuit bench, in 1906 and has served there continuously. The governor was deluged with requests that he appoint judges and attorneys as Justice Snow's successor.

COMMUNITY BUILDERS ERECT 1ST SIGNBOARD
Erection of a huge signboard on the Hortownfield, and delivery of several hundred transfer signs to Appleton merchants, manufacturers and professional men this week are the first steps in the actual campaign of Appleton Community Builders to sell the city of Appleton to its own people. The sign is being erected by the Garden State Co. and is the first of six which will be set up at all gates of the city.

Only a limited number of transfer signs have arrived and consequently complete delivery cannot be made. The remainder of the signs are expected in the near future.

WILL ASK MURDER TRIAL FOR SLAYER OF FATHER
Woodstock, Ill.—(P)—An indictment charging murder was to be asked of the recalled September grand jury of McHenry county Monday against William Schumacher, 28, held for the slaying last week of his father, Christopher Schumacher, 55. Young Schumacher's alleged confession was the basis on which States Attorney J. J. McCauley was to seek the indictment.

William Schumacher in the confession, police said he made, told of shooting his father while the latter was milking at the Schumacher farm. Repeated cruelty of the elder Schumacher toward his wife and children was the motive the son gave.

Jessie Marlowe, who was to have been married to William, this week visited him in his cell, pledging her faith in him. Brothers of the accused man are understood to be seeking the aid of alienists.

WOUNDS WIFE AND ATTEMPTS SUICIDE
Milwaukee.—(P)—Following his efforts at suicide Sunday, after he had shot his divorced wife, Stanley Monkowski, 36, was held under close surveillance Monday at the jail.

Monkowski shot his divorced wife, Helen, Saturday night at a dance hall and wounded Stanley Slabinski, 35, a bystander. Mrs. Monkowski was shot in the head and may lose the sight of one eye, but is expected to recover. Slabinski is not in a serious condition. When taken from the dance hall Monkowski swallowed the contents of a bottle as he was riding in the patrol wagon.

7 KILLED IN AIR MISHAPS OVER SUNDAY

Japanese Airship Is Burned When Gale Sweeps It Out to Sea

New York.—(P)—Airplane and parachute accidents in the United States Sunday took seven lives and resulted in injuries to four. In Japan the airship N-3 was burned after being forced into the sea.

The crew of the burned airship, which is sister ship of the Norge, in which Roald Amundsen flew over the North Pole, were stranded Monday on a small island. Tokyo dispatches said. Because of the high seas prevailing, their rescue was difficult.

The N-3 had been forced to land on the island by the bad weather and a lack of fuel. As soon as the crew left it a gale swept it seaward. It exploded in mid-air and burst into flames.

Two aviators were burned to death at Lincoln, Neb., when their plane crashed in a gulch Sunday. L. Bregman and M. C. Ebing, mechanics, were killed when an airplane crashed against the side of a hill in a heavy fog near Santa Monica, Calif.

Bernard Albright, 20, of Detroit, a passenger, was instantly killed when the plane in which he was riding crashed near Mount Clemens, Mich. Hollis Foodworth, the pilot, was said by flying field officers to have had no flying license. He escaped with slight injuries.

W. S. Lessman, Jr., of Los Angeles, was killed at Los Angeles, and Kenneth Davis, a student flier was killed at Kansas City when their parachutes failed to open.

Clarence Hauger, 18, and Sarah Duncan, 17, were slightly hurt when their plane ripped through a fence.

GREENLEAF FARMER DIES AFTER CRASH

John Leick Struck by Poles on Trailer on His Fifteenth Wedding Anniversary

John Leick, 48, farmer residing near Greenleaf, was fatally injured Saturday afternoon, when he was struck by a trailer loaded with 24 telephone poles, which broke loose from a truck driven by Fred Jordan of Hilbert, about a mile from Greenleaf, on state highway 57.

Mr. and Mrs. Leick, who were observing their fifteenth wedding anniversary, were driving from Greenleaf to DePere. When they were traveling on the stretch of road which runs parallel with the railroad track, they met the Wisconsin Public Service corporation truck. A train was passing over the tracks at the time. As the automobile was about to pass, the trailer was detached from the truck, and the poles smashed through the side of the car, fracturing Mr. Leick's skull. The automobile was turned over, landing on its top.

A farmer living in the vicinity took Mr. and Mrs. Leick to a Green Bay hospital, where the injured man died about 3 o'clock Sunday morning. Mrs. Leick escaped with minor injuries.

Mr. Leick had spent his entire life on his homestead where he was born. The couple had no children. Mr. Leick was a member of the Holy Name society, the Catholic Order of Foresters and several other organizations. Funeral services will be conducted at 9 o'clock Wednesday forenoon from the Catholic church at Greenleaf.

OFFICER'S BULLET IS FATAL TO CHICAGO MAN

Ashland.—(P)—Paul Wojtowicz, 38, of Chicago, died Sunday at a hospital at Park Falls, as the result of a bullet wound inflicted by Assistant Undersheriff Pierrelee of Ashland-co Sunday at the Wojtowicz farm near Bitternaut. Pierrelee said he shot Wojtowicz after the latter attacked him with a pitchfork.

Wojtowicz, married Aug. 19, officers said, had received several letters which charged his wife had sold grain and cattle during his absence from the farm. Wojtowicz, according to the officers, warned his wife that he would shoot her and the hired man, John Ditter, if he found them on the farm when he arrived. When Wojtowicz arrived he found sheriff's deputies there, and the encounter ensued.

WALL STREET PRICES AGAIN SHOWING RISE

New York.—(P)—After four consecutive days of acute weakness, during which the aggregate market value of listed stocks was extended to at least four billion dollars below the year's highs, established a few weeks ago, prices in the stock market Monday again headed upward.

NORRIS GROUP DELAYS FARM RELIEF ACTION

Washington, D. C.—(P)—Action on a farm relief program was postponed Monday by the group of western Republican senators, who recently organized in the interest of legislation for the west, until additional senators from that territory arrived here. After a two hour conference the six independent Republicans composing the group issued a statement denying any disagreement as to "plans and purposes for an agricultural program," but added that "as to details we will endeavor to reach conclusions when more of our friends are here."

"We are interested in the president's statement said, 'and are discussing matters relating to that subject. We are interested in farm relief and we are discussing all matters relating to farm relief. We are not attempting to make any statement in the absence of many western senators to reach conclusions."

HELMET MAY BE CLEW TO FATE OF REDFERN

Washington.—(P)—The state department has received by mail from the consulate at Georgetown, British Guiana, a waterproof helmet of American manufacture which may prove to be a clue to the fate of Paul Redfern, missing Brunswick, 42, a Brazilian aviator. The helmet has been sent to Redfern's backers for possible identification.

In transmitting the package, the consul said the helmet had been found a few miles east of Georgetown. Three parties in the same vicinity had reported on Aug. 28 having heard the motor of an airplane.

JUDGE ASKS IF SUMMONS WAS LEGALLY MADE

Wants Information Regarding Method of Procedure in Senate Probe

LAND OFFICIAL ON STAND Describes Memorandum Prepared for Fall Relating to Teapot Dome

Washington, D. C.—(P)—Decision as to admission at their criminal conspiracy trial of the testimony given before the senate oil committee by Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall was deferred Monday by Justice Suddens in the District of Columbia Supreme court.

The justice said he wanted further evidence as to whether Sinclair was subpoenaed before that committee before he passed upon so important a point in the present case. Neither side had made it clear by the evidence, Justice Suddens said, whether Sinclair had appeared voluntarily, been invited or actually legally summoned.

The immediate point on which Justice Suddens had been asked to rule was on the admission of Sinclair's statement of Dec. 24, 1923, to the senate committee that he went to Three Rivers, N. M. in December, 1921, to see Fall about leasing the navy's Teapot Dome oil reserve, which led to the present trial of the oil man and the former secretary of the interior.

DENY LEGAL SUMMONS
At his trial for contempt of the senate Sinclair contended through counsel that he never had been legally summoned before the committee and consequently never was a legal witness within meaning of the contempt statute.

After long conferences between the seven leading attorneys and Justice Suddens, the latter decided not to rule Monday, and L. E. Eddy of the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Co., a former employee of General Land office, was the first witness called, as the trial was started upon its second week.

Eddy testified that in January, 1922, at the request of Charles B. Safford, administrative assistant to Fall, he directed Roy W. Tallman of the land office, to prepare for Fall a memorandum, giving the nature and status of the various claims relating to the Teapot Dome reserve.

MEMORANDUM ADMITTED
"What did you do with that memorandum?" Owen J. Roberts of special government counsel, inquired after the witness had identified the paper.

"I delivered it to Mr. Safford," The memorandum was admitted as evidence.

The document set forth that the claims of the Pioneer Oil company finally had been rejected long before Sinclair brought them up and presented a quit claim deed to Fall as a preliminary move to obtaining the lease.

Summing up, the report said there was no mineral claims in Teapot Dome "worth serious consideration," and added that from both a geological and operative point of view drilling should not be started on the reserve.

Eddy said he examined the Sinclair lease, but did not draft it. "Who drafted the preamble?" Roberts inquired.

"Secretary Fall dictated the preamble in my presence," Eddy testified.

SAYS FALL WAS INFORMED
Evidence that Fall had full information that the interior department had held claims to rights in Teapot Dome Naval reserve to be invalid before he required Sinclair to quiet them by a payment of more than one million dollars was presented by the government Monday. Denial of a conversation he had with Fall about the claims, Tallman said in his testimony, but he had no doubt the claims had been finally disposed of, but that he was looking at the matter from the standpoint of a "cautious lawyer."

While conceding that he could not recall all of the conversation, Tallman said he remembered that Fall said that what worried him was that the claims might get into the hands of "unscrupulous persons who might endeavor to make trouble for the government."

With the assistance of Herbert MacFerran, a geologist of the interior department, Tallman prepared two reports for Fall setting forth that the five claims to lands on Teapot dome were invalid.

LITTLE CHANCE FOR STATE AIR SQUADRON

Madison.—(P)—Adjutant General Ralph M. Imhoff, who returned Sunday after several weeks in Washington where he attended the army war college, Monday said that there was little possibility of the Wisconsin National guard having a flying unit. Corps air squadrons are authorized to have 200 to 300 planes, he said, but the state would have to purchase at least 100 planes, at $5,000 each, to be authorized to have an air squadron. He said the national guard is authorized to have 100 planes, at $5,000 each, to be authorized to have an air squadron.

PROBE POWDER MILL BLAST IN WHICH TWO WORKERS WERE KILLED

Kenosha.—(P)—Investigation was launched Monday by Coroner A. B. Schmitz in the explosion and fire which on Saturday afternoon wrecked a section of the Hercules Powder mill at Pleasant Prairie, six miles west of this city, and claimed the lives of two workmen.

Arnold Newyear, 33, and Harry Hille, 37, the two victims, were both married and had families. They resided in the village of Pleasant Prairie, where live the 40 other workers in the mill.

So far as preliminary investigation is able to disclose the fire was caused by a spark from the machinery in the pellet room became loosened. Loose powder was ignited and spread rapidly. In all, it is estimated, 90 kegs of powder burned but did not explode with a serious effect. There were several light explosions the first of which set the clothes of the two men on fire.

RESUME INQUEST IN COLLAPSE OF MILL

Testimony introduced at the coroner's inquest into the collapse of the beater room of the Kimberly-Clark Paper Co. mill at Kimberly on Friday, Oct. 7, resumed Monday morning in the courthouse failed to cast light on the cause of the disaster. After hearing five witnesses the meeting adjourned to 1 o'clock Monday afternoon at which time state industrial experts would be ready to testify. It also was suggested that several of the injured men still in the hospital be questioned.

Charles Henderson, Appleton, chief engineer for the Kimberly-Clark company, was first called to the stand. He testified there were five and one quarter cars of pulp piled on the top floor of the building and three and one half cars on the second floor, weighing the weight of each car—55,000 pounds the engineer quoted figures that the load on the top floor was 184 pounds to the square foot and on the second floor 112 pounds. The stacks computed as to the weight the floors would hold without undo hazard was 350 pounds to the square foot for the top floor and 250 pounds to the second floor. These weights were said to be one-quarter the weight the floors would sustain before breaking down.

VERIFIES FIGURES
The second witness was H. G. Boon, superintendent of the Kimberly mill at Kimberly and he was questioned as to the correctness of figures related by Henderson.

BOY FATALLY INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT AT MADISON
Madison.—(P)—William Larson, 13, Basco, was killed and two youths, a man and four women were injured in weekend accidents in and around Madison. The boy, with two others from the same vicinity, was killed when the car in which they were riding plunged into a ditch and overturned. An operation failed to save him. The other two were badly injured.

In the other accidents only a few of the injured persons required hospital treatment, and these were not seriously injured.

In addition to the motor car accidents, Frank E. Talley, 35, was found dead Monday in a roofing company's warehouse. He is thought to have been dead since Monday evening. Death is thought to have resulted from natural causes. One automobile driver among those who figured in accidents was arrested for operating a car while intoxicated.

FOREST FIRE THREATENS DYNAMITE STOREHOUSE
Washburn.—(P)—With a storage house of dynamite within a block of the blaze, a forest fire raged within the city limits of Washburn Sunday evening. The fire was fought by a large crew of men, for four hours before it was under control. The origin of the blaze is unknown. It swept east and west, burning a large stretch of brush land and second growth timber, and menacing farms and buildings.

FINLAND MOVIE FLAMES
Helsingfors, Finland.—(P)—Twenty-one men and women were either burned to death or suffocated and a number of persons seriously injured in a fire in a motion picture theatre Tammerfors Sunday night.

When the film caught fire, the operator warned the spectators to flee. A panic ensued when, in trying to escape they found the exits blocked by lines of people waiting to get in to the next performance. They tried to fight their way through. The firemen by turning their hoses on the waiting throng, forced a path for them.

Lindy Resting After His 22,350-Mile Tour Of U. S.
New York.—(P)—Back at the starting point of his flight to world fame and his 22,350-mile tour of the country, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh rested Monday without revealing definite plans for the future.

"I have no plans," he said. "I'm going to rest a few days and then make a short visit to Michigan. After that, I frankly don't know."

Tanned, bright-eyed and smiling, the lone eagle swooped down out of the sky over Mitchell field, and landed in his spirit of St. Louis at 1:50 Sunday afternoon, one minute in advance of the time of an appointment made on July 29 when he started a tour that brought him before 30 million people in 52 cities of the 48 states of the Union.

Two thousand persons, including Harry F. Guggenheim, president of Guggenheim fund for the promotion of aeronautics under auspices of which Colonel Lindbergh made his tour, greeted him as he arrived here from Philadelphia. The flier said he had no immediate plans, but only a desire "to drop out of the public view for a while."

In the few moments he failed to talk of his plane, Colonel Lindbergh spoke reports that he would enter the political field or join the department of commerce.

"Anybody," he said as he was told of reports he might enter politics, possibly running for congress. "When I know myself what I'm going to do I'll announce it."

Clad in a blue-worsted suit over which he wore a leather pilot's coat, the flier seemed to be in perfect health as his bright eyes flashed in his tanned face. "I never felt better in my life," he said.

Usually the colonel shifted the conversation from himself to the plane that has carried him through 350 hours of flying since he left San Diego, Calif., previous to his hop to Paris.

"The Spirit of St. Louis is in fine shape," he said. "But this looks like a good time to do it. So I'm going to have it completely overhauled. It's just waiting for a museum yet. Eventually, but not now."

Colonel Lindbergh left for the home of Mr. Guggenheim at Sande Point, Long Island, where he will be a guest for a few days. The flier has a stack of mail three feet high awaiting him, most of the letters make business of one, one of them bidding for the appearance of the aviator in motion pictures.

SPORTS NEWS OF NEENAH AND MENASHA SOCIETY

COMPLETE ALL PLANS FOR TWIN CITY GAME

Officials of Two Schools Make Arrangements for Contest on Nov. 12

Menasha—At a meeting in the office of Menasha high school Saturday, Sept. 10, E. L. Kibowski, Coach Calder, Assistant Coach R. G. DeCharme, B. Todd, Menasha, and Supt. C. F. Hodges, and Coach Jorgenson of Neenah made final arrangements for the annual football clash between the high schools of the Twin Cities. Since Neenah has a new Citizens Athletic field, the place of playing the game has been changed to the new field. The following items are to be made a part of the regular Wisconsin Inter-Scholastic Athletic association contract for the game to be played between Menasha and Neenah high schools 2:30 Saturday afternoon Nov. 12.

There are to be two persons to sell tickets at the gate and two persons to take tickets. One each of these is to be from Menasha and one each from Neenah.

The coaches and assistants from each school will mark the field and make all other arrangements as may be necessary, including the placing of a wire for the side lines.

Three outside officials are to be selected for the game a referee, umpire, and head line-man. These selections are to be made from an approved list of officials as discussed.

The winning team is to keep the football in case of tie, captains of each team will toss a coin to decide who keeps the ball.

Each school is to do its own advertising for the game.

The Neenah rooters are to have the west side of the field; the Menasha rooters the east side.

The net proceeds of the game are to be divided equally between the two schools.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Menasha—The dance which was to have been given by the Menasha club at their clubrooms Tuesday evening, Oct. 26, has been postponed until Friday evening, Nov. 4, on account of the presentation of the home talent play "Smiles" at Neenah theatre. The card party of the club, which was to have been held Monday also has been postponed until a later date on account of rehearsals.

The Kaukauna Initiatory degree staff of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will exemplify degree work at the Menasha lodge hall Wednesday evening, Oct. 26.

The ladies of St. Mary church will give their annual bazaar Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at St. Mary school hall. Ladies afternoon will be on Tuesday and cards will be played both afternoon and evening. The annual cafeteria supper will be served Wednesday afternoon commencing at 8:30. Thursday will be children's day. The ladies have been preparing for the bazaar for a year and have fashioned many articles which will be offered for sale.

Application for a marriage license was made to the county clerk by Andrew J. Beach of Menasha and Esther E. Blank of Neenah.

The Catholic Daughters of America are planning to hold a cafeteria supper and harvest sale Monday evening, Oct. 31.

Miss Marcelle Tennesson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tennesson, 105 First-st., and Howard L. Rusch were married at 9 o'clock Monday morning at St. Mary church by the Rev. John Hummel. The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Rusch left on a wedding trip and upon their return will make their home at 195 First-st.

The Catholic Daughters of America will hold a social meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at Knights of Columbus hall. Bridge will be played. Mrs. Cyril Petersen will be chairman.

Pelton Athletic association held a card party Sunday afternoon at their hall on Fourth-st. Schafkopf and funny were played and prizes were awarded.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles held the second card party of their series Sunday afternoon at Eagle hall. MARQUETTE PLANNING FOR ANNUAL REUNION

Seventh Homecoming Will Be Celebrated at Milwaukee Oct. 27-29

Milwaukee, (P)—Plans are rapidly nearing completion for Marquette university's seventh annual homecoming. Oct. 27, 28, and 29. Advance reservations indicate that the 1927 attendance will be greater than previous Hilltop reunions.

David V. Jennings, law graduate and chairman of the Milwaukee-co. civil service commission, is in charge of the homecoming.

The celebration will start Thursday night, Oct. 27, with a student-faculty alumni dance. At 8:30 Friday night, 2,000 Marquette students will gather for the annual torchlight parade down Wisconsin avenue and through the downtown district. Departments, classes and fraternities will compete for trophies to be awarded for the most freakish and unusual floats, and two bands will be included in the procession. There will be a gigantic bonfire after the parade on the practice grounds back of the varsity gymnasium. Alumni have arranged a Halloween dinner dance at the Wisconsin club Friday night.

An outstanding feature of the homecoming program, is the football game between the Marquette Golden Avalanche and the Grinnell college eleven in the local stadium on Saturday, Oct. 29. Grinnell defeated Marquette here a year ago, and Coach ward voters will register Wednesday and Thursday at the ward polling places.

Pupils Weak Eyes Cost Taxpayers Millions of Dollars Each Year

By A. L. Koch, O. D., Appleton, Wis.

Defective eyesight of pupils in this country cost the taxpayers at least $130,000,000 yearly, according to press reports of the Eyesight Conservation Council of America.

This large cost is due to thousands of students who are compelled to take two or more years in a single grade because of faulty vision. This has made them backward in their work.

It is figured that the cost of public elementary and secondary education in the United States averaged in 1926, $64.14 per pupil per year.

This on the basis that each of the 4,000,000 retarded children dropped back for one year only, the cost would be $200,000,000.

It is estimated that about one-third of that number of delays were caused by poor vision and thus causing the $130,000,000 expense to the taxpayers.

It is estimated further that in two cities of 5,815 retarded pupils, showed that a total of 12,970 school years were lost making an average of more than two years for each pupil.

These statistics do not include the tremendous loss to the child, due to lower earning power.

HUMANE OFFICER TO PLACE HIS AGENTS THROUGHOUT STATE

Will Attempt to Secure Financial Assistance from All Counties

Madison—(P)—Former Dane-co superior court Judge Ole A. Stolen, now state humane officer, has announced through the department of agriculture whose commissioner appoints the humane agent, that his aim is to organize an active, properly financed humane society with active, properly compensated humane agents in every county of the state.

Pending such organization of a state humane agent system, Mr. Stolen said that cases of this type should be reported to him at the state capital, Madison, "when local authorities fail or refuse to act."

The state humane agent has police power in all cities and counties of the state. His duties, prescribed by law, are to superintend and assist in organization of humane societies and administer and enforce laws relating to humane education and prevention of cruelty to animals.

In many counties, and in some of the cities, humane societies have been organized from time to time but many of them have ceased to function because in most cases, the counties have failed to make appropriation for the local society or for compensating the county humane agent.

NEED COUNTY AID

"The law provides that any county, city, or village may appropriate to local humane societies a sum not exceeding $1200 in any one year; and in addition thereto may appropriate and pay to any authorized and active agent of such society such salary as the county board may fix," Mr. Stolen said.

"No society can remain active without financial backing and no county humane agent can be expected to do what should be done without compensation. Experience shows that it is impossible to raise the necessary funds by voluntary contributions. "That there is a great deal of humane work to be done in all the counties which remains undone when there is no active society and an active agent can be easily demonstrated. In one county which ranks ninth in population, an active agent, in 1926, handled 534 cases, of which 261 involved persons and 332 animals. As long ago as 1912, an active agent in a county that ranks seventh in population handled 735 cases of which 438 involved cruelty to persons and 297 cruelty to animals. It is safe to say that most of these cases would not have been reported had there been no active humane agent in the county."

The largest women's college in the United States is Hunter College, New York City. Enrollment this year is 3,500.

LINDY ENDS 22,000 MILE TOUR BY AIR

Lone Eagle Returns to New York After Flying Around Entire Country

New York—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the original New York-to-Paris flier, completed his three months' air tour of the forty-eight states here Sunday.

He arrived at Mitchell field with the Spirit of St. Louis this afternoon, flying from Philadelphia, the last city he visited on the 22,000-mile tour arranged by the Daniel Guggenheim fund for the promotion of aeronautics. A crowd of nearly 2,000 was waiting in the rain to greet the famous aviator.

The Spirit of St. Louis will be sent to the Wright Aeronautical company plant at Patterson, N. J., for its first complete overhauling. It still is in perfect flying condition, however, its pilot said.

Col. Lindbergh will remain here a few days as the guest of Harry Guggenheim and then will go to Michigan to visit his mother and friends, flying the Spirit of St. Louis there if overhauling is completed.

He has no definite plans for his activities after visiting in Detroit, Col. Lindbergh said. He denied recent reports that he was to enter the aviation divisions of the war or commerce departments.

POSTOFFICE ASKING PATRONS TO LESSEN RUSH AT CHRISTMAS

Do Your Mailing Early, Is Plea of Harry S. New, Postmaster-General

Do your Christmas mailing early. Although it is a long time before Christmas in the minds of most people the pre-Christmas season already has started for employees of the postal department and the first warning that the yuletide mail deliveries depend upon how prompt patrons mail articles has been received by Fred Felix Wittenberg, acting postmaster of the Appleton office.

Every year the postal department carries on an extensive program asking people to mail early and avoid disappointment because of delayed parcels and letters. And every year the same people believe that they are the only persons who are mailing late and thereby clutter the mails with parcels and letters so that many are delayed and hundreds of post office employees must work all Christmas day to get the mess cleaned up.

This year a more extensive campaign than ever will be carried on by the postal department, according to Harry S. New, postmaster-general. Employees of the department will be asked to pass the word along as they serve patrons to "mail early." Newspapers, magazines, cards, postcards and the radio are to be used whenever possible while carriers will be called upon to address theatre audiences.

CHRISTMAS ON SUNDAY

Christmas this year falls on Sunday which means that Monday, Dec. 26, will be celebrated as official Christmas day. Considerable congestion of mails over the two days will result if there is no delivery and for that reason the postmaster-general has asked that the regular forces work Monday morning, Dec. 26. Because of the ruling all carriers will make one delivery on Monday and mails will be dispatched as usual.

Letters and packages carrying special delivery postage will be delivered as fast as they arrive and can be taken out by messengers. The service will be carried on at all times over the holidays and will take precedence over other mail.

Special emphasis has been laid on the mailing of post cards this year. The practice is increasing with giant strides every season and causes considerable congestion. This year postmasters will ask that card dealers prompt persons to mail early and make other displays that will impress upon the minds of the postal patrons that the best assurance for proper delivery before Christmas is to mail several days in advance of the holidays.

ARRANGE PROGRAM FOR FATHER'S DAY

"Dads" of University Students to Be Entertained at Madison

Madison—(P)—The program for Father's day at the University of Wisconsin made public Monday shows many attractions for the hundreds of "dads" who have been invited from all parts of the country and from several foreign countries. Even the fathers of several Chinese students at the university have been sent invitations to the "fathers' homecoming."

Saturday Nov. 5 is Father's day, but the celebration starts Friday night with presentation of the play, "In the Next Room" by the Wisconsin players and concludes with special church services in Madison churches on Sunday. The play is to be presented also on Saturday evening.

During Saturday morning the fathers are invited to visit classes in which their sons or daughters are enrolled, meet the instructors, discuss the work of their children, and inspect the university grounds and buildings.

At 2 o'clock they are to enjoy the football game, Wisconsin playing Grinnell, and immediately after the game President Glenn Frank is to have an informal reception for the parents at his home.

Fathers and family members are to be served a dinner in the men's gym in the evening.

WELL DRILLERS WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

Appleton well drillers are making plans to attend the annual convention of the Wisconsin Well Drillers' association which will be held at Green Bay, Nov. 10 and 11. Local well drillers are W. C. Hoffman, Antone Koss and Jacob Koss.

The convention will convene Thursday morning, Nov. 10, with registration at the convention headquarters, Hotel Northland. E. G. Burkhardt, secretary and manager of the Burkhardt company of Kiel will be presiding officer. Thursday afternoon first regular sessions will be held. A banquet will be held at 6:30 Thursday evening at which Louis Faust of J. J. Faust and Sons Company, Kaukauna will be toastmaster.

The sessions will be resumed on Friday, Nov. 11, with the election of state officers in the afternoon.

Are you trying to hide behind a mask of cosmetics?

It can't be done! If your skin is red, rough or pimply, there is only one way to overcome the annoyance—get rid of the defects. You can do this easily by using Resinol Ointment daily until your skin is clear and smooth again. Apply lightly. Leave on skin about an hour (longer if possible), wash off with Resinol Soap. Pleasing results follow.

This ointment is also a soothing, healing dressing for minor burns, sores, rashes, etc. Keep a jar handy. Your druggist sells.

GREEN BAY PASTOR TO SPEAK AT "Y" MEETING

Dr. Edwin B. Simpson, pastor of First Baptist church of Green Bay, will be a guest of the Ys Men's club at its supper meeting at 6:15 Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Officers will be elected for the coming year, after which the club will adjourn to attend Dr. Simpson's talk in the lobby.

The talk will be the feature of the first open forum of the year, sponsored by the club. Dr. Simpson will speak on Europe's War-dread Zone from his travels in all countries of Europe during the last summer with the Sherwood Eddy party. The public is invited to hear the talk and take part in the discussion which will follow.

Club officials have issued a special invitation to the women. The program, the first of a series of forums on alternate Monday evenings during the winter will open at 7 o'clock.

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sun shine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under prescription management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, cold and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles. We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you, and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

RESERVE OFFICERS TO ATTEND MEETING

Pershing Invited to U. S. Convention to Be Held at Milwaukee Oct. 23-26

Several members of the Fox River Valley Chapter of the Reserve Officers' association which consists of officers in Appleton, Neenah, Menasha and Waupaca, are planning to attend the annual convention of the Reserve Officers' association of the United States which will be held in Milwaukee from Oct. 23 to 26. None of the chapter officers are on the program.

Included among the more than 600 persons expected to attend the convention are several notables in army circles. These are Dwight Davis, secretary of war; Hanford McNider, assistant secretary of war and past national commander of the American Legion; Major General Charles P. Sumner, chief of staff; Major General Lutz Wall, adjutant general; Major General William Lassiter, commander of the 8th corps area; Major General M. M. Patrick, chief of the air corps; Col. David L. Stone, executive officer of reserve affairs; J. Hamilton Lewis, former Illinois senator and Mrs. Alfred Brossau, president of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The Milwaukee chapter, which has charge of the arrangement has invited General John J. Pershing and Col. Charles Lundberg to visit the city during the gathering. Major Henry Giesen is general chairman in charge of arrangements.

Aviation will be one of the chief topics discussed with General Pershing as the leader. Other discussions will center on new reserve policies changes in the national defense act alterations in the national reserve officers' association constitution especially with regard to the status of national guard officers and provisions for junior membership for R. O. T. C. and C. M. T. C. students active and inactive duty training, and appropriations for the different components.

QUESTION: I am a practicing nurse. Have nursed for 30 years. I have been suffering with stomach trouble for 10 years. Tried everything in my profession with little or no relief. I would take adjustments if I thought it would relieve me. Please answer through your column—A Reader.

ANSWER: What Chiropractic does in chronic diseases is shown by the results obtained in long standing cases of liver, stomach, and kidney troubles. Chiropractic has won its great reputation in bringing about results in the most difficult chronic cases.

Diseases in the head, throat, nasal passages, bronchial tubes, ears, tonsils, etc., are primarily due to a weak nerve resistance or function that can easily be corrected by Chiropractic Adjustments. No disease can long exist when normal supply of mental impulses from the brain is delivered to a weak organ or part. Chiropractic adjusts the primary causes of the many diseases impairing human health. Chiropractic has saved lives and restored health to countless thousands. Chiropractic adjusts the physical cause of disease, and the forces in nature lengthen the span of life. It is an easy matter to remain well once health is attained and the seat of disease is removed.

Chiropractic properly applied corrects the cause of disease.

THE EVIDENCE IS THERE
The attorneys for Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair, on trial at Washington for conspiracy to defraud the United States in the leasing of Teapot Dome Naval Oil reserve in their opening statement told the jury that their clients were actuated entirely by patriotism in this transaction. They did not tell the jury that the supreme court of the United States, in reviewing the complete record of the government's suit to cancel the lease, declared unanimously that Mr. Fall was a "faithless public officer," and that the deal was shot through and through "with fraud and corruption." They did not tell the jury that the same court had made the same findings with reference to the oil reserve lease negotiated between Fall and Edward L. Doheny. They did not tell the jury that Fall had been proved by the evidence which the supreme court reviewed in the Doheny case to have accepted a bribe of $100,000 delivered to him in a little black satchel. They did not tell the jury that the same court, in reviewing the evidence in the Sinclair lease, found that Fall had accepted what there is no possibility of construing in any other light than a bribe of more than $200,000 in Liberty bonds. Nor did they tell the jury it was on these precise findings that the highest court in the land branded Fall as a "faithless public officer," and both leases as conceived and executed in "fraud and corruption."

This language of the supreme court of the United States can mean but one thing, to wit: The principals in these deals, that is Fall, Doheny and Sinclair, were guilty of criminal conspiracy and bribery. In fact, this is in effect what the court actually says. The facts are so clearly established and undisputed that this great tribunal of nine of the country's most eminent jurists without reservation or qualification denounced the oil leases in the most scathing terms. There can, therefore, be no doubt that a criminal conspiracy existed and that a vital element of this conspiracy was bribery. The supreme court's decision is final.

But the government cannot at the Fall-Sinclair trial introduce as evidence the decision and findings of the supreme court. There is no legal method by which the supreme court's opinion can be gotten before the jury. The prosecution can, however, introduce the evidence on which the court's conclusions rest, and it would seem that testimony which would convince a tribunal like the supreme court of the United States, where hard and fast rules and none too liberal interpretation apply, would also convince a jury of twelve normally minded men and women.

It is against these facts and this record that the defense council has the effrontery to picture their clients as patriots, with no other motive in this transaction "shot through with fraud, corruption and faithlessness," than to serve their country. The simple layman gasps at the complex of a legal mind which can stoop to such monumental moral dishonesty in the face of the vividly accusing finger of the supreme court of the United States.

MACHINES BENEFIT WORKERS
Contrary to popular belief, the introduction of labor saving machines, while vastly increasing output, has not decreased the number of persons engaged in industry, thereby cutting off their means of livelihood. Industrial figures gathered by the department of commerce show the number, in fact, has increased.

In considering the first quarter of the twentieth century, it was found that there was being produced at its close two and three-quarters as much as at the beginning and almost twice the number of people were employed. Such a showing reveals that not only were more people employed but that each of them produced a vastly greater amount of products, thus raising the American standard of living until it is now the highest in the world.

Every man now has more of this world's goods than he had at the beginning of the century, and he has more means with which to get them.
The increase in population in the United States during this period was fifty-four per cent, but the increase in production in four principal classes, agriculture, mining, manufacturing and transportation, was 140 per cent. The present population, therefore, finds itself with more and better things.

The reason that the introduction of labor saving devices has not caused a decrease in the number of employed is the fact that mass production, by cheaper means, enables producers to lower prices to a point where the demand is vastly greater, thereby calling into employment even more men than were released by the introduction of machines. If the demand remained stationary, the opposite would be true. Also, by the introduction of machines, whole new industries and professions have been created requiring employment of greatly increased numbers of more highly skilled and efficient workers.

GASOLINE DEMAND INCREASE
The demand for gasoline has never been so great as at the present time. For some years there has been speculation as to when the saturation point of the automobile market would be reached. Now it would appear that this is never to take place. The automobile industry is going straight ahead, turning out cars at the rate of something like 4,000,000 a year in this country and Canada. The demand for gasoline has perforce kept pace with motor car production and even outstripped it.

Were it not for improved methods of gasoline production, the demand would already have outstripped the supply. When gasoline first came into use it was a distilled product. Then came the "cracking" process. Then casing head plants were developed which save in California alone 1,325,000 gallons a day. But for these improved methods, the gasoline supply could not have withstood the tremendous demands made by the increasing popularity of the airplane.

The consumption of gasoline today in the United States has risen to about two and a third times what it was five years ago. Leaders in the oil industry say that there is nothing to indicate that this increase in demand will be checked. Consumption now is at the rate of about 1,000,000 barrels a day. If exports to other countries are considered, the drain on American supplies is well over a million barrels a day.

While there are scores of millions of barrels of crude oil in storage as a result of the huge flush production of the Seminole field, one of the companies not considered as a leader has 7,000,000 in storage. When the flow from the mid-continent field returns to normal, as it is bound in time to do, the growing demand for gasoline will speedily reduce these huge stores. In view of the fact that the natural supply of crude oil is not inexhaustible, every effort should be made to conserve it, and every means known to science should be employed to prevent waste.

MUSCLES YOU SHOULD KNOW
I. THE HEART MUSCLE
Any youth who has an elementary physical education knows how absurd it is for a glib person to spend perfectly good money for a mail order "course" by one of the big muscle boys who fish for suckers in the popular magazines. Anybody who has more gray matter than adipose within his skull should wonder how come these masterful big muscle boys who guarantee to increase one's efficiency and all that never seem to win any races or gain any acknowledgment of superiority in any respect themselves. This may be of no particular significance for some readers, but I get so many inquiries from unsophisticated patrons of the claptrap magazines, that I fancy the alluring promises of these big muscle boys are taken quite seriously by a considerable number of prospects. They ask me whether I would advise them to send such and such sums for Rhinoceros Llamaf's course.

The heart is a muscle, a hollow muscle, involuntary, about the size of one's fist. Race horses, greyhounds, athletes, soldiers, mountain climbers and persons with valvular leakage must necessarily have enlarged hearts for the heart muscle must increase in size (hypertrophy) to do the greater work.

A youth of high school age who, as a consequence of neglected "sore throat" or tonsillitis or infected tonsils, develops valvular leakage, makes the same demand upon the capacity of his heart to do more work than a normal heart has to do, as does the youth of the same age who trains for football or other severe endurance tests.

The same sort of knowledge and skill that the physician must use in managing the recovery of compensation or efficiency in a case of valvular leakage where heart efficiency has been lost, is necessary for the coach or trainer who undertakes the responsibility of developing cardiac hypertrophy (overgrowth) in a group of youths who aspire to become football stars. The physician trains his patient for the ordinary activity or perhaps something less than normal activity, the football coach trains his boys for extraordinary or perhaps violent strains. Unfortunately this direction or guidance is commonly entrusted to unqualified individuals, even in public high schools where a qualified physical instructor is employed. The sporting crowd that assumes control of high school football calmly thrusts the proper instructor aside and imports some touted quack to serve as "coach," and this presumptuous trainer's knowledge of physiology of the heart could be printed in brevifon the head of a pin. It seems that a certain number of promising boys must be sacrificed annually to the income of the coaches who take over the physical education of our youth, and it seems that most parents whose boys are vitally concerned are sheep and dare not disapprove of the scandalous system. Just one accuse them of inculcating mollicoloid ideas in the son's mind. Just the same this vicious professionalism that has infected high school athletics is proving disastrous to the immature boys who are exposed to it, both physically and morally. Of course most parents, like most high school teachers and principals, have had little or no physical education themselves and hence they do not understand the seriousness of this evil. But they ought to heed the many warnings given by physicians and by the best authorities on physical training; and they ought to recognize the undesirable influence of professionalism in school athletics.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
John Is Iodine
Recently you suggested that one drop of iodine once a week, in a glass of water, would prevent simple goiter, in young persons who have already developed a slight goiter. Please let me know if you mean iodine, as I note there is no e in your word iodine. Also what is the proper dose of adults? (J. J. McG.)

Answer—Tincture of iodine (as we spell it now, adage) is the familiar old brown tincture of iodine we have always used to burn bruises with and now use as a first aid disinfectant for small wounds. The dose of this is one drop, in a glassful of water, once a week, for the prevention of goiter in a child. An adult may take a drop every day for a month now and for a month in each of the other three seasons of the year.

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

SUGGESTING A NEW PICA-REQUE NOVEL

Here is an idea free of charge that may conceivably bring fame and fortune to the right person: There is a chance to write a new American picaresque that has never been done or at least not adequately so far as I know and that could not from the nature of things have been done until recently.

Life in the American "tourist camps" is begging for representation in American fiction. Anyone who has done any traveling by automobile along the main trunk roads of the nation has seen these camps and the signs that advertise them. "Free Camp" catches the eye and the kind of traveler who never gets away from the conventions, whose idea of "roughing it" consists in putting up with a room without a bath for a night at a resort hotel, wonders idly how anyone can possibly think of staying at such a place. He catches glimpses of tents and "night cottages" as he speeds at 50 miles an hour, but he is certain no really civilized person can put up at such places.

In which he not only fools himself but also deprives himself of experiences that are as near to the spirit of adventure as our prosaic life will allow. Recently I lived in "tourist camps" for a month along a trail of 4,500 miles through Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, Florida, and Georgia. Every night of that month was spent in a "tourist camp," each night in a different one. Hence I have a fairly good idea what life in such places is and my conviction is strong that one of these days someone will turn for his picaresque serial in going to meet that life between covers in a way that will make the book a worthy companion to "Gil Blas."

I can think of at least one American writer who could make a great novel of that sort out of life in the "tourist camps" — Charles D. Stewart, author of "The Fugitive Blacksmith." It will never be done by the writer who looks with condescension on the "tourist camp." If he can't enter wholeheartedly into the spirit of the life of such places for its own sake, let him put that life between covers in a way that will make the book a worthy companion to "Gil Blas."

DAILY HINTS FOR HEALTH

PASTEURIZATION OF MILK BRINGS GREAT BENEFITS
BY DR. MORRIS FISHBURN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Since the introduction of pasteurization of milk, the number of cases of food poisoning, enteric fever, infantile fever and diphtheria, which used to result from infected milk, have largely decreased.

Today few cities suffer greatly with infectious diseases due to contaminated milk. The recent experience of Montreal is a reflection of what serious harm may result when vigilance is temporarily relaxed in the control of milk supply.

During a same period of time that attention has been given to milk, water supply has been improved through chlorination and filtration.

CONSTANT VIGILANCE
Studies recently made in various communities have shown that it is necessary to be eternally vigilant in watching the operation of pasteurizing plants. The whole idea in pasteurization is that all of the milk supply should be held at such a temperature that it is not possible for bacteria to multiply.

Some pasteurizing machines have not only defects in the way of heat and steam, but also valves or unsatisfactory thermometers, so that some portions of the milk fail to be properly heated.

The Chicago department of health recently has conducted some studies on the subject. Their investigations show that the temperature necessary to pasteurize milk safely is not far removed from the amount of heat that will destroy the "germ line" and impair the marketing value of the milk. Investigations have shown that temperatures from 142 to 145 F. will kill the germs, provided all of the milk is maintained for a period of 30 minutes to such a temperature. This temperature is not sufficient to ruin the "germ line." On the other hand, emphasis must again be placed on the point that all of the milk must be subjected to the temperature for the entire 30-minute period.

EFFECT ON MILK
Pasteurization of milk does not injuriously affect its taste, appearance or digestibility. Such harm as it may do to the vitamin content of the milk can be made up by supplying the infant or the adult with a sufficient amount of orange juice or tomato juice.

It is more able to estimate the value of food that has been shown in the prevention of communicable diseases by the establishment of pasteurization.

A NEW YORKER IN PARIS
By Gilbert Swan
Paris—Paris would be a city of dignified quiet were it not for the strange variety of auto horns employed on its boulevards. Every great city has its identifying sound and that of Paris is the honking of ten million geese.
Since Paris streets run every which way and jut out at every angle motor traffic is regulated, not by eye but by ear. One drives, one crosses streets, one leaves curbstones entirely by ear, as one sometimes learns music. The Paris auto horns do not toot, they actually "honk" and "quack." The subways are noiseless and there are no elevators. There is no roar of the city traffic to greet the ears as in Manhattan. Only the quacking of autos in distress as they shoot by the windows.
They say that Paris taxis are the cheapest in the world. But they forget to mention that at hours when one is most likely to want a taxi they become as expensive as any in New York and twice as hard to find. Most folk can do without a taxi until 11 o'clock at night. And then it is the meter rate is doubled, while the average driver will candidly tell you he intends going home and has no intention of changing his plan.
The first lesson an American must learn upon arriving in Paris is this: he cannot change the habits of the Frenchman. And the habits of the Frenchman are tuned to a leisurely pace. He regulates most carefully most of the hours of his day, and most of the days of the week. He will not be rushed and he will not be hurried. His noon hour begins at 12 and his lunch hour ends at 2.
At 12 he begins to shut up his shop or his business. Even in the heart of the exclusive "shoppe" belt the blinds are drawn at noon and the doors are locked until noon to reopen in the afternoon. All business suspends until after the noon meal. The average American gasps with amazement or indignation, but there is nothing he can do about it. They tell me that the average French business man will trust neither his cash drawer nor his business with his help. When he goes to lunch or dinner the entire force must go and the business must close.
The other day I went into the office of one of the biggest steamship lines in connection with future reservations. As the clock neared the noon hour, down came the blinds and a crowd of information seekers were politely exoted. I happened to be in conversation with one of the big officials. He invited me to join him in a cocktail, or at lunch, but made it apparent that no further business would be considered until after the noon recess.
On Monday, which is the "big sale" day of American cities, all Paris shuts up business so that the stores and office buildings can be cleaned. An army of cleaners goes through all the places and even, on the main thoroughfares one finds a repetition of Sunday. And since most places close down Saturday afternoon, it is apparent that this is not such a hard life.
Whereas American janitor service never ceases, and cleaning out of places takes on the aspect of perpetual motion, Paris observes "Monday cleaning" even as Copernic Frattini looks upon Saturday bath night. I have yet to discover what the Paris bath night may be, since baths are so difficult to achieve.
If you were to ask me what the greatest difficulties of Paris might be I should unhesitatingly reply: postage stamps, matches and baths. But please don't ask me why.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

THIS HAS HAPPENED
 Markham has his friend Vance, a wealthy idler and art connoisseur, accompany him to the scene of Alvin Benson's murder. Benson has been shot through the head while reading in a chair. One of the police officers finds a pair of woman's gloves and a handbag.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER V
 After a casual inspection of the gloves, Markham opened the handbag and turned its contents out onto the table. I came forward and looked on, but Vance remained in his chair, placidly smoking a cigar.

The handbag was of fine gold mesh with a catch set with small sapphires. It was unusually small and obviously designed only for evening wear. The objects which it had held and which Markham was now inspecting consisted of a flat watered silk cigarette case, a small gold phial of Roger and Gallet's Fleurs d'Amour perfume, a cloisonné vanity compote, a snout delicate cigarette-holder of inlaid amber, a gold-cased lip stick, a small embroidered French linen handkerchief with "M. St. C." monogrammed in the corner and a Yale latch key.

This ought to give us a good lead, said Markham, indicating the handkerchief. "I suppose you went over the articles carefully, Sergeant."

Heath nodded.
 "Yes and I imagine the bag belongs to the woman Benson was out with last night. The housekeeper told me he had an appointment and went out to dinner in his dress clothes. She didn't hear Benson when he came back, though. Anyway, we ought to be able to run down Miss 'M. St. C.' without much trouble."

Markham had taken up the cigarette case again and as he held it upside down a little shower of loose dried tobacco fell onto the table.

Heath stood up suddenly.
 "Maybe those cigarettes came out of that case," he suggested. He picked up the intact butt and looked at it. "It's a lady's cigarette all right. It looks as though it might have been smoked in a holder, too."

"I beg to differ with you, Sergeant," drawled Vance. "You'll forgive me, I'm sure. But there's a bit of lipstick on the end of the cigarette. It's hard to see on account of the gold tip."

Heath looked at Vance sharply. He was too much surprised to be resentful. After a closer inspection of the cigarette he returned again to Vance.

"Perhaps you could also tell us from these tobacco grains if the cigarettes came from this case," he suggested with gruff irony.

"One never knows, does one?" Vance replied, indolently rising.

Picking up the case, he pressed it wide open and tapped it on the table. Then he looked into it closely and a humorous smile twitched the corners of his mouth. Putting his forefinger deep into the case, he drew out a small cigarette which had evidently been wedged flat along the bottom of the pocket.

"My object's gifts won't be necessary now," he said. "It is apparent even to the naked eye that the cigarettes are, to speak loosely, identical—what, Sergeant?"

Heath grinned good-naturedly. "That's one on us, Mr. Markham. And he carefully put the cigarette and the stub in an envelope, which he marked and pocketed."

"You now see, Vance," observed Markham, "the importance of those cigarette butts."

"Can't say that I do," responded the other. "Of what possible value as a cigarette butt? You can't smoke it, I know."

"It's evidence, my dear fellow," explained Markham patiently. "One knows that the owner of this bag returned with Benson last night, and remained long enough to smoke two cigarettes."

Vance lifted his eyebrows in mock amazement.

"One does, does one? Vance, that, now."

"It only remains to locate her," interjected Heath.

"She's a rather decided brunette, at any rate—if that fact will facilitate your quest now," said Vance easily. "Though you should desire to annoy the last, I can't for the life of me imagine—really I can't, don't you know?"

"Why do you say she's a brunette?" asked Markham.

"Well, if she isn't Vance told him, smiling listlessly back in his chair. "Then she should consult a cosmetician as to the proper way to make up. I see she uses 'Rachel' powder and Guerlain's dark lipstick. And it simply isn't done among blondes, old dear."

"I defer, of course, to your expert opinion," smiled Markham. Then, to Heath, "I guess we'll have to look for a brunette, Sergeant."

"It's all right with me," agreed Heath jocularly. "By this time, I think, he had entirely forgiven Vance for destroying the cigarette butt."

(Friday, June 14; 11 A. M.)
 "Now," suggested Markham, "suppose we take a look over the house I imagine you've done that pretty thoroughly already, Sergeant, but I'd like to see the layout. Anyway, I don't want to question the housekeeper until the body has been removed."

"Very good, sir. I'd like another look myself."

The four of us went into the hall and walked down the passageway to the rear of the house. At the extreme end, on the left, was a door leading downstairs to the basement, but it was locked and bolted.

"The basement is only used for storage now," Heath explained, "and the door which opens from it into the street area is boarded up. The Platz woman sleeps upstairs—Benson lived here alone and there's plenty of spare room in the house—and the kitchen is on this floor."

He opened a door on the opposite side of the passageway, and we stepped into a small modern kitchen. Its two high windows, which gave into the paved rear yard at a height of about eight feet from the ground, were securely guarded with iron bars and in addition, the sashes were closed and locked. Passing through a swinging door we entered the dining-room which was directly behind the living-room. The two windows here looked upon a small stone court—really no more than a deep air well between Benson's house and the adjoining one—and these also were iron-bared and locked.

We now re-entered the hallway and stood for a moment at the foot of the stairs leading above.

"You can see, Mr. Markham," Heath pointed out, "that whoever shot Benson must have gotten in by the front door. There's no other way he could have entered. Living alone I guess Benson was a little touchy on the subject of burglars. The only window that wasn't barred was the rear one in the living-room and that was shut and locked. Anyway, it only leads into the inside court. The front windows of the living-room have that iron work over them so they couldn't have been used even to shoot through for Benson was shot from the opposite direction. Let's pretty clear the gunman got in the front door."

"Looks that way," said Markham. "And reason me for saying so?" remarked Vance, but Benson let him in.

"Yes," retorted Heath unenthusiastically. "Well, well find all that out later, I hope."

"Oh, doubtless," Vance drawled. "We ascended the stairs, and entered Benson's bedroom which was directly over the living-room. It was severely but well furnished and in excellent order. The bed was made showing it had not been slept in that night and the window shades were drawn. Benson's dinner jacket and white pique waistcoat were hanging over a chair. A winged collar and a black bow-tie were on the bed, where they had evidently been thrown when Benson had taken them off on returning home. A pair of low evening shoes were standing by the bench at the foot of the bed. In a glass of water on the night-table was a platinum plate of four false teeth and a toupee of beautiful workman ship was lying on the chiffonier."

This last item aroused Vance's special interest. He walked up to it and regarded it closely.

"Most interesting," he commented. "Our departed friend seems to have a fine false hair. Did you know that, Markham?"

"I always suspected it," was the indifferent answer.

Announcing the NEW

Maytag Aluminum Washer

F. L. MAYTAG

WITH distinct pride and satisfaction I announce the introduction of the NEW Maytag—a washer that is a real tribute to Maytag ideals, traditions and accomplishments. It is a worthy successor to the Maytag Aluminum Washer that during the past few years won World Leadership.

This New Maytag is as far in advance of today as the Maytag Gyrafoam principle was ahead five years ago, and again identifies the Maytag with the most notable achievements in Washing Machine history.

I earnestly urge you to visit the nearest Maytag dealer at once and see this New Maytag, or take advantage of our trial plan and phone for a free washing in your own home. If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it.

Sincerely,

F. L. Maytag

Cape Coats And Fur Jackets With Frocks Are Latest
Diversity In Street Frocks Marked In Autumn Style

BY BETSY SCHUYLER

New York—Autumn, with its dog shows, horse shows, races, football games and world series, seems to stimulate as much diversity in costume as there is in sports.

Just one stroll along Park Avenue, famous thoroughfare of famous good-dressers, proves it.

Coats with capes, fur jackets with frocks, one-piece street dresses, suits—all passed me in just a few blocks walk.

Miss Frances McCon with the only velvet coat I noted, a suit I noted, a rich reddish brown, with mink collar and a narrow banding of the velvet on the crew neck of the beige jersey blouse under the coat.

SMART SKIRT IDEA

Mrs. L. M. Gibb sponsored the rather new and altogether smart idea of a skirt of composite tweed, with semi-fitted jacket of plaid, tucked to match the lighter stripe of the skirt. She carried one of the novel new duvetyn purses—a rectangular one—with three half-inch tucks taken in it to give novelty and chic.

Rich black velvet fashioned the trip suit I saw Miss Phyllis Baker wear, as she leisurely shopped for the last fancies for her trousseau. The skirt was wrap-around and gave a slender line to her youthful figure. The coat was long cut and extremely cut and girlish on her. A rich fox neckpiece tucked its head over her right shoulder. Her black felt hat had only a few horizontal tucks—not even a banding to detract from its smart lines.

Miss Ann Ingersoll has one that is as swaggy as any costume I've seen this season. Soft, graceful willow green kasha with a lovely finish almost like aurea. It is its sleeves and waist are cut in one, dispensing with the armhole which, at best, is apt to detract from one's appearance of perfect costume.

This dress had a gentle fullness in the blouse combined with a slightly tighter skirt—all in one piece—which achieved the smart results only perfect tailoring can. The skirt was a panel of buttons and notched collar and cuffs were all hand bound in silk braid. She wore gray hose with a greenish cast with her snakeskin slippers.

AGNES WILLIAMS' CAPE COAT
Coats may be straight line and they may be full but I decided the other day nothing on earth can be smarter than such a cape coat as I saw on Miss Agnes Williams. Perhaps it was the cute little fur cape collar that overhung the cape of the coat that intrigued me.

The coat itself was of the new kasha vella, rich, deep pile but with a lovely dull cast to it. In a brown that was almost nigger brown. Small cuffs and a rich collar that had graceful revers and a defining cape collar of mink enriched the coat. To make it as comfortable as it was beautiful, it had a cozy for lining.

Diversity in afternoon frocks is as marked as it is in street wear, so far this season. I tried in vain, lunching at the Ritz the other day, to note any two frocks that were similar. The pointed Viennese neckline that ends in a diagonal closing, great diversity in silhouettes and the use of crepe and satin characterized many of the frocks.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BREAKFAST—Breakfast apples, cereal, cream, broiled bacon, soft cooked eggs, cornmeal muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Calves' brains in tomato sauce, mashed potato patties, watercress, grapes, milk, tea.

DINNER—Stuffed pork tenderloin, grilled sweet potatoes, ten minute cabbage, cream cheese salad, apple and plum pudding, milk, coffee.

While calves' brains are usually considered the greatest delicacy, lamb and sheep's brains are also used. As soon as they come from the market, wash well in cold water and remove arteries and membranes. Cover with cold water and let stand one hour. Then drop into boiling water to which 1 tablespoonful of vinegar has been added. Simmer twenty minutes and drain. Drop at once into cold water and let stand until cool. Cover with fresh cold water and let stand until cool. Drain and separate into small pieces. Care must be used while cooking that the water does not bubble violently as the brains will fall apart.

BREAKFAST APPLES

Four good-sized apples, cut up granulated sugar, few grains salt.

Choose four well flavored apples free from blemishes. Wash and remove cores without bruising fruit. Cut a thin, narrow paring from each apple at its largest circumference. Arrange side by side but not touching each other in a smooth sauce pan. Add water to half cover fruit and bring slowly to the boiling point with the pan closely covered. Remove fruit and syrup in the pan. Discard fruit and reserve syrup to three-fourths cup by round bottom. Pour over apples arranged in individual serving dishes. Chill and serve with cream and cream. THE TINYMITES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE sea began to get real rough, and Clowdy cried, "I've had enough. If we stay in, we'll all get wet. The waves are rolling high. Some water's splashed upon me now. I'll have to dry it out somehow. Perhaps, by sitting in the sun, we all soon will be dry."

So, in they ran upon the sand. "Say, someone kindly lend a hand," cried Clowdy as he started out the shells that he had found. "I'm going to build a house with a little house, and that's not all. Please bring a lot more shells to me and pile them on the ground."

The happy bunch ran here and there, and picked up good shells very fast. "Now Clowdy started building, and was really very good. Oh, my, I have a house!" said he, "that sounds just fine. I wish that we might build a house of seashells. Do you think perhaps we could?"

This plan, of course, amused them all. Said one, "Why, shells are much too small. We'd never get enough together on the beach. I fear. And, even so, 'twould still be tough, for though of shells we had enough, to build a house that's big enough 'twould take us 'bout a year."

Then Clowdy jumped and yelled, "Hurrah! I have a plan. We'll gather up clay, and lots of sticks to make our house. This can be done with ease. There's mud right here, and down here, I guess, and sand would make an awful mess. But, surely we can find some clay away back in the trees."

"That's simply great," the whole bunch cried. "We'll build the house; then live inside." And to the trees they scampered, making work seem just like play. They found a lot of clay nearby, and brought it out and piled it high. It wasn't long until their little house was on its way.

(The Tynymites finish their clay house in the next story.)

CONSOLING THE LITTLE CALFIE

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

THESE little calfie don't you from zebra heaven and behold himself (1927). You'll be a fur coat by and by! They have been promoted the cow-ers of some such from earlier to further. Adorned with such trimmings, and strappings that their own mothers wouldn't know them!

I remember the first pony coat I ever saw, some time ago. I felt as though I had recognized the scalp of a beloved friend. It was indeed that. I saw it in a store, from there, little fellows all over me and adorning it in a white coat. I wonder just the same if any of you could have been placed in the same line. I was told that, and from a tiny old coach in a certain beaver play like honey children, do children's coats. It says it is one of the most unbelieveable things in the world. Has it not to still greater matter, I never saw a coat or a skirt of glass? I was told that, but from the nature of

DRESSING TABLE SHOULD NOT BE OVER LOADED

BY VALERIE VANCE

NORDINATE interest in the toilet set is a fable of the young girl. Older persons, with more discrimination, recognize the bad taste of crowding the bureau top with so many things all of which except the hand mirror are intimate tools of the toilet. They belong not only for this reason out of sight but in a drawer where they can be kept sanitariously clean, or in a vogueish vanity box meant more particularly to hold the beauty secrets milady and giving so quaint and paradoxical a flavor to the top of a bureau when decorated with a Victorian lady of Godey's Lady Book whose scorn for such beauty practices was so decided.

Colored perfume bottles from Venice or Czechoslovakia in deep ultramarine or violet and other interesting colors when paired make pleasing accessories. Often times a powder jar makes part of the set and then three pieces generally are sufficient together, perhaps, with a hand mirror with long, graceful handle. Bottles when decorative, and many are amazingly so, are a very ready source of decoration as well as use to a dressing table.

For the dressing table, modern glass lamps, exceedingly slender and delicately tinted old pink, are most attractive shaded with paper shades scalloped and bound with silver paper and with silver stars spangled over the surface.

A jewelry casket with a string of beads trailing its colorful lining out of the box is a piquant touch. Boxes, too, of many types for the toilet are vogueish, fascinating, useful and decorative.

NEW UTENSILS

If you grease and heat new pie tins slowly before you use them, your food will never stick in them and they will last longer.

their names I judge that they are not heads of prey. Dreitschwanz, or unborn lamb, is the silliest, softest and one of the most expensive furs. Proud is the woman who owns a coat of any of these.

I suppose that calves are born to be killed, and wool animals might become pests in time. But one thing puzzles me. If we are civilized human beings, what excuse is there on earth for wearing unborn pony? It is the newest fur, I hear.

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

The table was set for dinner, with a centerpiece of curly-petaled marigolds in a quaint blue bowl, when Cherry and Bob arrived from the office. Faith heard them talking animatedly and jealously wondered what the subject was which could make Bob's voice so eager. She was in the kitchen, measuring jasmine tea into the silver teapot and resolutely began to sing, her contralto voice rich and clear:

"I love you! I love you!"

That's all that I can say—Bob's laugh rang out suddenly from the door between dining room and kitchen. "That's fine! But can't you add a footnote about dinner, honey? I'm starved. Umh!" he wrinkled his nose as he sniffed the appetizing odor of chili.

"All ready!" she cried, making her voice as casual and cheerful as his.

"I'll wash up and be ready to go in just a minute," he promised. Then his face fell a little, as he remembered. "How did you get along today sweet? All tired out?"

She lied gaily: "Not a bit of it! I had a wonderful time, doing just as I pleased in my own home. Kate Lundy bossed me dreadfully. But dash on, darling and get ready for dinner. And see that Joy washes her hands, will you?"

How relieved he looked! Was it possible that he had been almost afraid to come home, lest he find a dispirited, tired wife waiting for him, ready to weep if he uttered an inconsiderate word? Poor Bob! Although her shoulder was aching viciously, there was a serene smile on her face when she sat down at table, the big tureen of chili before her.

Cherry was in a bubbling good humor: Joy was excited over a school picnic that was to take place the coming Saturday; Bob was almost gay. Faith looked at her family, slowly, her big brown eyes traveling furtively from one face to another.

"Faith, your spasm of economy has already infected Bob," Cherry laughed. "Early this morning he listed that little office in our suite with a renting agent and this afternoon we had three applicants for it. I'm trying to persuade Bob to leave the renting of it to me."

"Yes," Bob grinned at his sister-in-law. "You want to pick out a rich young sheik, whose business will be so light that he can devote most of his time to flirting with you?"

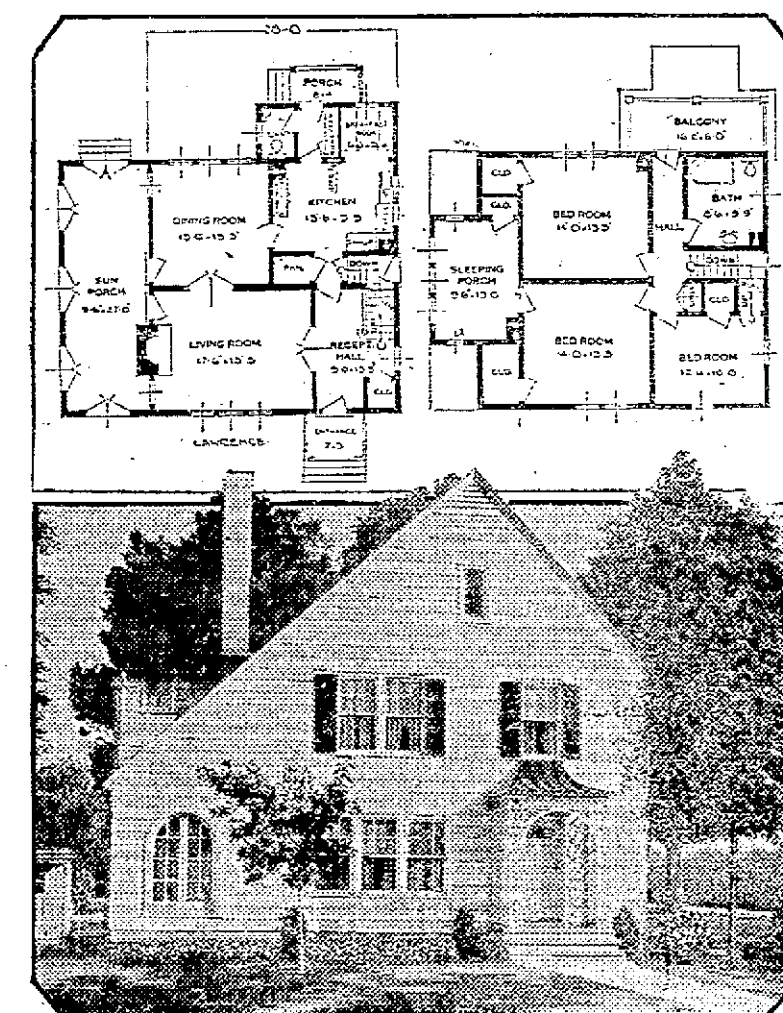

"You said it, big boy," Cherry agreed, twinkling her golden eyes at him. "Believe me, it's no fun working for a brother-in-law. I'm used to more excitement along with the heavy work. I think I'll put an ad in the paper: 'For rent—nice private office in architect's suite; all conveniences, including beautiful stenographer; only tall, handsome young men need apply.' I'll bet I could rent the office for a hundred a month, if you'd let me put that ad in the paper. How about it, brother-in-law?"

"A hundred a month tempts me strangely," Bob grinned at her. Then, turning to Faith, "Honey, this is the best chili I ever tasted. Oh, by the way, Klein, the fur man, you know, asked me today to draw up plans for a new store for him. He wants something especially distinctive in show windows and a 'swell' interior, as he says. To intends to go after the society trade with a vengeance. Fifth Avenue stuff."

"I'm so glad," Faith glowed. When dinner was over, Bob immediately began to remove the big plates. "Come on, Cherry. Let's wash dishes. No, Faith, the big idea is that you're to sit in the parlor like a lady of quality. You've earned the right with that gorgeous dinner you gave us."

UP THREE STEPS AND INTO THE HOUSE WITH GREEN BLINDS

ONE, two, three short steps lead into the cheerful welcome and warm hospitality one could expect in a comfortable white house with green blinds, such as "The Lawrence." And inside there are many more than one, two, three, attractive features.

Such conveniences as a downstairs lavatory and a sizeable breakfast nook strongly commend "The Lawrence." It costs from $6000 to $7500.

GERMANS LOOK FOR THE UNUSUAL IN MAKING FILMS SAYS BEN LYON

BY DAN THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—This story might be headed "The Real Heroes of the Film Industry." They are the Germans.

Practically all cinema critics agree that our movie folk could learn plenty from their fellow workers on the Rhine. But I have just come to realize that we haven't given the Germans even half the credit they deserve.

Ben Lyon, who has just returned here from making a picture in Germany, told me a few things about working conditions across the Atlantic that really are revelations. At least they were so interesting that I'm passing them on.

EQUIPMENT ANCIENT
"I never had such a surprise in my life as when I first went into a studio in Berlin," declares Ben. "From the German pictures I had seen in this country I thought that they must have the most perfect equipment to be found anywhere in the world."

"As a matter of fact, they are using the same kind of lights, cameras and other equipment that we discarded nearly 10 years ago. Why, a director on 'Parade' wouldn't start shooting a picture unless he had better facilities than they have over there. Their lights are the old style klieg lights, but a few things about them that do nothing but amuse and amaze. That, while they are very behind us in the matter of equipment, they are just as far ahead of us when it comes to good movie intelligence. After shooting all day, a German cameraman will spend all night in his workshop perfecting a new type of line with which to shoot unusual angles. And they seldom are a freak line in more than one picture. They always want something new."

LETTING IMAGINATION WORK
"Then, too, the Germans have made the imagination their own. For example, in this country when a director wants to convey the impression that a person is riding on a train, he shows a lot of scenery going past. We had the same sort of a shot in the picture I made over there, and the only thing they photographed was a single telegraph wire running along the railroad track.

That last paragraph sums up the principal difference between American and German film production. Our directors look for the obvious—the Germans look for the unusual.

Household Hints

GLASS PACKING
If you must move after your winter's fruit is put up, keep the jars from cracking by cutting old inner tubes the right length to slip over them.

UTENSIL OIL
Use glycerine to oil the meat chopper, egg beater or other utensils to prevent food from tasting of lubricant.

TANK JACKET
An asbestos jacket for your hot water tank is a good investment. It facilitates heating the water and also keeps it hot.

HOT FUDGE WAFFLES
Hot waffles, cooked at the table and served with hot fudge sauce, make as delectable a dessert as anyone could ask.

Special showing of Glene's Hats, Tues. Glene herself will be here Tuesday from 9:30 to 5:30. Featuring the $10 hats and others.

Every lady in this vicinity is cordially invited to attend.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

There are many Bridge players who, when the auction is completed, have considerable difficulty in determining whether their partner's doubles are business or informatory. Misinterpretation of a double is generally attended with dire disaster; it matters little whether a double intended to be in-formatory is taken to mean business, or the reverse; the result is equally expensive.

This week our attention and tests will be upon the classification of doubles. Ten doubling situations are given today, accompanied by the usual answer blank; each day during the remainder of the week two of these cases will be answered and discussed. By filling the blank today and watching the answers each day as they appear, you can give yourself a most interesting Auction or Contract Bridge test (the doubling conventions being the same in both games); and by getting your friends to answer today and at the end of the week comparing your respective results, you can participate in a most interesting contest.

The ten bidding situations are all given below. In each case a double is the last declaration stated and in each case the question is: would you consider that double, if made by your partner, to be business or informatory?

No. 1. South one Heart, West double, North two Hearts, East pass, South pass, West double.

No. 2. South one Heart, West double, North pass, East two Diamonds, South two Hearts, West double.

No. 3. South one Heart, West one Spade, North pass, East pass, South two Hearts, West double.

No. 4. South one Heart, West double, North two Hearts, East pass, South three Hearts, West double.

No. 5. South one Heart, West double, North two Clubs, East pass, South two Diamonds, West double.

No. 6. South one Heart, West double, North pass, East pass, South one No. Trump, West double.

No. 7. South two No. Trumps, West double.

No. 8. South one Heart, West double, North one Spade, East double, South two Hearts, West double.

No. 9. South one No. Trump, West two Spades, North double.

No. 10. South one Spade, West pass, North pass, East three Hearts, South double.

MRS. BASSETT
ALWAYS TIRED

Now in Good Health by Using
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lansing, Mich.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I needed it. When I first used it I was so bad I could hardly walk across the room without crying. I was tired all the time. I think my trouble was coming on me for six months before I realized it. I read of your wonderful medicine in the paper, and my husband bought me a bottle, and after the first few doses I felt better, so kept on taking it until I was well and strong. I take it at times when I feel tired and it helps me. I will always have a good word for your medicine and tell anyone what good it has done me. I recommended it to my neighbor for her girl, who is sixteen years old, and it was just what she needed. She is feeling fine now, and goes to school every day."

—Mrs. E. F. BASSETT, 216 South Hayford Avenue, Lansing, Michigan.

TAKE EASY GAME FROM
NEENAH HIGH SQUADMcAndrews Sends in Second Team When Regulars Pile Up Big Lead

Kaukauna—Neenah High was completely swamped by Coach McAndrews' Gallanting Ghosts in a football game at the Kaukauna ball park Saturday. After the regulars had run up a score of 31 to 0 McAndrews sent his second team in and they battled the Paper City machine on even terms throughout the fourth period. Just as the whistle ended the game the seconds were carrying the ball down the field for another touch down.

The Kaws gained on almost every play but wide end runs and long passes were most successful. Big gains were even made plunging through the Red and White which was bigger and heavier than the Orange and Black.

Coach Jorgenson of the Neenah school evidently did not think the Kaukauna school very strong for he started the game with his second string lineup. This was not for the Kaws regulars and they went straight to the field after Neenah kicked off scoring a touchdown in the first two minutes of play. A pass, Derus to Kemp for fifteen yards put the ball on the ten yard line and Hishon ran around left end for a touchdown. Kemp missed the goal. Kaukauna kicked off and Neenah had an opportunity to show up on offense but the Paper City squad could not make an inch through the Kaws line.

Coach Jorgenson rushed in his regulars but the first team did not look a bit better than the second.

Toward the close of the period it looked for a short time as though Neenah might start playing better ball. Marty recovered a fumble on the Kaws thirty yard line and a pass Gollmier to Hauser was good for ten yards. That ended it though and Neenah was forced to punt. That pass represented the only first down Neenah made during the entire game and the only one until McAndrews sent in his substitutes in the early part of the fourth period. Kaukauna started plunging through the Neenah line again, making practically five yards at every plunge. Kemp carried the pigskin down to the fifteen yard line. Miller was stopped when Stackert cut through. Derus skirted right end for 8 yards and then crashed through right tackle for the Kaws second touchdown. Kemp kicked the goal as the first period ended 13 to 0.

Early in the second period Kaukauna went on its way towards another touchdown but when within striking distance of the goal line the Orange and Black received two penalties of fifteen and five yards each and Kemp was forced to kick. Neenah recovered the ball practically under the shadow of the goal posts. Captain Miller blocked Stackert's punt and Doering fell on the ball behind the goal line for the third marker. Kemp missed goal. A few minutes later the half ended with the Kaukauna ahead 19 to 0. Right after the start of the second half Coach McAndrews started making numerous substitutions and when Landerman received a bad bump the coach took him out. Hallock was sent in at the center position and Van Lieshout went in at tackle.

An exchange of punts with Kaukauna having the advantage and a number of healthy plunges by the Gallanting Ghosts placed the ball on Neenah's 15 yard line in the third period. Derus squirmed around right end for eight yards and Miller hurdled center for first down on Neenah's ten yard line. Derus plunged for five yards and Miller went over left tackle for the fourth touchdown. Kemp again missed goal.

Another exchange of punts gave the Orange and Black the ball on the fifty yard line. A pass Hishon to Ferguson was good for ten yards and Percy galloped the remaining forty yards through the Neenah secondary defense for a touchdown. The goal was missed.

Luedtke got into the game in the fourth period but after a few plays he was taken out to make room for the second stringers. Only three regulars remained in the lineup in the fourth period. Hishon was at center and Main and Ester were in the back field. Grogan was calling signals. It was in this period and against the scrubs that Neenah had its only opportunity to score. Plunies and several successful passes put the ball in Kaukauna's two yard line where the seconds skinned and held for downs. Kaukauna got the ball on its own two yard line and Baker punted out of danger. The game ended with the ball in the possession of Kaukauna on Neenah's thirty-eight yard line.

KAWS IN 1ST PLACE
IN SCHOOL LEAGUE

Win Over Neenah Puts Kaukauna in Undisputed Possession of Lead

Kaukauna—Kaukauna now rests in possession of an undisputed first place in the Northwestern Wisconsin Inter-scholastic conference following the Gallanting Ghosts' 31 to 0 win over Neenah Saturday. While Kaukauna was winning from the Red and White West De Pere was losing to Kewaunee. On Friday New London, the only other undefeated team in the Northwestern conference was eliminated by Menasha which Kaukauna defeated 14 to 0 earlier in the season. The Kaws have one conference game left on their schedule, with Two Rivers on Saturday. A win over the Lake Shore school will give Coach McAndrews' team the Wisconsin title while a loss will give Oconto Falls and West De Pere a chance at the championship for these teams have scheduled more conference games than the Kaws. Two Rivers lost a 12 to 12 decision to West De Pere on Tuesday of last week and then on Saturday the Barbarmen turned on St. Peter's of Oshkosh and won 20 to 7. The battle between Two Rivers and Kaukauna will be the "crucial" battle of the conference. If Kaukauna wins the conference championship it will be interesting to compare the quality of football played in the Fox River Valley conference with that in the Northwestern when Kaukauna meets Appleton on the latter's field on Nov. 12. The College City team has won two games and lost two with a fine opportunity of finishing in third place in the conference.

ST. MARY GRIDDERS WIN
FROM HOLY CROSS TEAM

Kaukauna—The question of supremacy of the Catholic graded schools on the gridiron was definitely settled on Sunday afternoon when St. Mary defeated Holy Cross 12 to 6 on the latter's field. The Hilltoppers scored the winning marker on a fumbled punt near the end of the final period. Earlier in the season the two squads had fought to a 6 to 6 tie. Both squads showed a good brand of ball for grade schoolers. St. Mary outweighed the north side midgets. About 250 people witnessed the game. Roofing sections for both schools added collegiate color to the game.

HEALTH PROGRAM AT P-T CLUB MEETING

Kaukauna—The Parent-Teacher's association will hold its regular monthly meeting in the high school auditorium at 7:30 Tuesday evening. A health program has been prepared by Miss Maude J. Hayes, city health nurse.

BEWARE THE
COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist (adv.)

Complete with automatic safety and operating controls. Nominal installation costs depend on basement conditions and storage equipment and local regulations.

STAGE And SCREEN

SCREEN'S GREATEST STARS IN SPECTACULAR SPECIAL

Even without its absorbing story, and thrilling action, Warner Bros. production of "When a Man Loves," starring John Barrymore would be a great picture because of its sheer pictorial beauty.

Besides its many sided appeal to the imagination it is an ever changing delight to the eye. No expense was spared in the election of the gigantic settings, perfect and realistic in every detail. The costumes of a naturally colorful and decorative period are of unparalleled magnificence, and variety. The photography of these by the master who filmed "The Sea Beast" and "Don Juan" accentuates them and suffuses them with a romantic glamour which enchants the mind and gives the spectator the illusion of utter reality.

"When a Man Loves" has as its setting the gay and dissolute Paris of Louis XV when love and the chase were the chief occupations of the few and dire poverty the lot of the many. Never has Barrymore essayed a story of more power and heart appeal than this one and Dolores Costello, the adorable heroine of "The Sea Beast," has arisen to even greater dramatic heights. The rest of the cast reads like the blue book of infamy, including as it does, Sam De Grasse, Holmes Herbert, Warner Oland, Marcelle Corday, Charles Clary, Tompall Saxe, Eugene Kressner, Bertram Grassby, Noble Johnson, Stuart Holmes, Tom Santschi, Tom Wilson and many others. Alan Crosland directed, "When a Man Loves," at Fischer's Appleton Theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Dance at Falcon Hall, Menasha, Tuesday Eve., Oct. 25.

Dr. O'Keefe's Office will be closed until Monday, Oct. 31.

RECOVER STOLEN CAR BUT THIEF GETS AWAY

Vigilance of the local police resulted in the recovering of a Buick roadster, 1927 model, stolen from the Poyer Automobile company, Milwaukee, on July 3, 1927. The car was recovered Saturday morning but the man suspected of having stolen the machine escaped from the city. George T. Pilm, chief of police, says he has a clew to his whereabouts.

The automobile was parked on College-ave and Detective Mathew J. McGinnis became suspicious of the machine and took the number to check it up. He found the license plates on the machine had been stolen and the car was seized by police and taken to the police station. Detective McGinnis ascertained the name of the driver of the machine and went to his rooming house and later it was learned that the man gave a different name at his rooming house than he used at the shop where he was employed. He apparently had learned the police had seized the car and disappeared from the city.

TWO GREEN MEN GET IN POLICE TANGLES HERE

Edward Mann, 1221 Berner-st. Green Bay, was fined $1 and costs by Judge Theodore Devr in municipal court Monday morning when he pleaded guilty of failure to stop at an arterial highway sign. He was arrested by Fred Arndt, motorcycle of-icer, at the corner of North and Atlantic-sts at 10 o'clock Saturday night.

M. J. Maher, 115 Allard-ave. Green Bay, was fined $5 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving. Maher was arrested at 3:15 Sunday morning for driving with four people in his coupe. Officer Arndt also made this arrest.

Sheboygan high school's cellar football team of the Fox River Valley conference was no match for Coach Joseph Schaefer's substitute lineup Saturday afternoon at Whiting field and as a result the Appleton high graders won an easy 20-0 victory while five regulars held down the bench until the final quarter. The win advanced the Orange to a threatening position in the race, on the heels of Marquette and ready to finish second if it can win its remaining games, including West Green Bay. The veterans got a good rest for the two hour out-of-town games of the next two weeks, Manitowoc and West.

Sheboygan never threatened the Orange goal line and only made first down three times during the tilt. Meanwhile Appleton crossed the Red goal line four times, one marker being lost when the Orange was recalled and given a 15-yard penalty, and lost three other scoring opportunities by fumbling. Once Sheboygan showed real stuff, taking the ball from the Orange on downs on the 1-foot line, but the entire game was played in Red territory.

SOPHS LOOK GOOD
Appleton's starting lineup found three regulars in the line and three in the rear wall, with two sophs, Reetz and Berg, playing their first real games. The work of both youngsters was good. Reetz refusing to give an inch in the line and breaking through well on offense, while Berg's blocking and tackling was a feature of the day. He played the full game. The entire Orange squad showed a great improvement over the week previous in tackling and with two more weeks on the dummy will be ready for West. Other newcomers who played good ball for the Orange were Redlin, end, and Abraham, tackle.

Schaefer, Johnston and Kunitz played the best games for the Orange, though the veteran fullback was removed at the half. Kunitz made large gains on tackle and around the ends while Schaefer was the outstanding player of the day. Not a gain of more than a yard was made at his end and Sheboygan soon gave up trying it. He also was directly responsible for three Appleton markers, including the one that was called back with his excellent receiving of passes. His ability to take the ball from two enemy guardians surrounding him was a feature of the game.

Appleton lost two chances to score within the first three minutes of play, when twice passes were incomplete over the Sheboygan goal line and another when Kunitz fumbled on the Red 7-yard stripe soon after. Appleton's first marker came after Fahres had punted from behind his goal line to his own 29-yard stripe. Strutz failed to gain on two plunges. Strutz passed over the center of the line to Schaefer for a 20-yard gain, the Orange end making a pretty backward catch. Johnston hit the line for six yards and Kunitz added two. Sheboygan recovered an Appleton fumble on its goal line and Fahres' kick shot off almost straight to the side of the field. An Appleton back took the kick, fumbled and fell on the ball several yards farther ahead. With the ball on the 4-yard line Johnston plunged over for the marker and Strutz dropped-kicked the goal.

LONG PASS SCORES
Late in the second quarter consistent plunging by Johnston, Kunitz and Berg gave Appleton three successive downs and carried the ball to the Red 10-yard stripe. Johnston and Kunitz carried it to the 4-yard line, but Kunitz's fumbled Sheboygan recovering on his 10-yard line. Sheboygan's punt was returned to the 30-yard line. On the first play Johnston passed 20 yards to Schaefer who took the ball from the hands of two enemy backs by a great catch and scampered 10 yards for a touchdown. Bowby's dropkick was wide. The touchdown play was a clever piece of work by Quarterback Bowby is the gun ended the half just as Schaefer crossed the line. Kunitz had here less than 30 seconds to play for the half. The Orange pilot passed everything on one play for a touchdown. Appleton lost its third marker in the third period. Sheboygan punted

FIVE UNBEATEN TEAMS IN EASTERN GRID RACE

New York—(AP)—The half way mark of the college football season Monday finds only five major eastern teams in the running for sectional supremacy.

Among those still unconquered are Princeton, which put down the strong Cornell team; Dartmouth, which showed wonderful promise against Harvard; New York University, Pittsburgh and Washington and Jefferson. Among the hitherto unbeaten teams which fell in last Saturday's rush are Army, Lafayette and Syracuse. Maine, Tufts, George Washington and Rochester still maintain clean slates, but their schedules have not been as strenuous as those of the larger schools.

Dartmouth's impressive triumph over Harvard has stamped Jesse Hawley's eleven with the mark of eastern approval, but the big Green team will have a severe test next Saturday when it clashes with Yale at New Haven. Dartmouth bowled over Harvard, but the powerful Yale line may impose an entirely different handicap.

Cornell will play host to Columbia at Ithaca. New York University team opposes Colgate in the Yankee stadium. Harvard will engage Pat Page's Indiana University eleven. Chicago goes up against Navy. Syracuse journeys to Lincoln to meet the Nebraska Cornhuskers. Princeton entertains William and Mary.

There is considerable interest in the battle between Army and Bucknell next Saturday at West Point. Penn State will meet Lafayette and Brown will take on Temple University at Providence.

Because of a losing team and lack of patronage the Buffalo pro grid team recently disbanded.

to Kunitz who was downed on the Red 43-yard line. Bowby and Kunitz made a first down on off-tackle smashes and two line plunges and a penalty for the Red gave the Orange another first down on the 10-yard line. Bowby passed to Schaefer, who was tackled on the 4-yard stripe. Kunitz went through left tackle to the one-yard line and then went over for the marker, but the ball was called back and Appleton lost 15 yards for holding. Appleton then lost the ball on downs. Another chance was spoiled as the quarter ended when Schaefer threw a long pass over the Red goal line and the ball was given to the visitors in the 20-yard marker.

The regulars started to replace the "subs" at the start of the final period. Bowby, Kunitz and Lieke carried the ball to the Red 10-yard line, but two plunges failed and Appleton lost the ball on down on the 14-foot line. Strutz returned the Sheboygan punt to the 10-yard line on a line run, but the ball again was called back and Appleton penalized five yards for offense.

FINAL MARKER
Strutz threw a 20-yard pass to Hartung to take the ball to the 20-yard line, but three more successive passes were incomplete and Sheboygan took the ball on downs. Appleton's final marker came soon after. Sheboygan had punted out of bounds on its 93-yard stripe. After a first down on plunges, Strutz buried a pass over the center of the line to Hartung who outran the Red secondary defense for 20-yards and the marker. Strutz' kick was good and a few minutes later the game ended.

Bambino Alone Hit More Homeruns Than 12 Clubs

When Babe Ruth made 60 home runs during the season of 1927, to break his best previous effort of 59 made in 1923, he established another record that it is doubtful if any slugger will equal.

In making those 60 home runs, Ruth performed the almost inconceivable feat of driving out, all by himself, more circuit swats than did the entire squad of any other American League club, with the exception of New York, of course.

The Yankees made 156 home runs, of which Ruth, Gehrig and Lazzeri contributed 126, Gehrig adding 47 and Lazzeri 15 to the 60 the Babe accounted for. The next closest club to the Yankees was the Athletics with 138, then St. Louis with 125 and Detroit 121. Cleveland, with 117, had the next mark in the home run column.

In the National League, only three teams made more home runs than Ruth's mark of 60. The Giants knocked out 119 four-base swats while St. Louis made 115 and Chicago 74. There are short fences in all three parks, taking something off the premium that ordinarily goes with home run hitting.

Thus Ruth, all alone, made more home runs than the combined personnel of each of 12 other major league clubs. Lou Gehrig, with 47, had a higher mark than the combined slug-sling of seven of the major league clubs.

Ruth continued merrily on his way in the world series, setting two more home runs in four games (even a triple better than his average for the season, 60 home runs in 151 games. His entire total for the year, spring training and barnstorming games included, will be close to 110.

DESIRES WELTER TITLE

Here's Ace Hudkins, who will meet Joe Dundee in a welterweight title bout in Los Angeles soon. The Nebraska terror is conceded by experts to have a good chance of defeating the Baltimore lad in their fight and thereby lifting the title won by Dundee from Pete Latzo several months ago.

Badgers Get Intensive Drill From Strong Rival

Madison—Suffering no losses from the slugging battle with Purdue Saturday, which resulted in a 12 to 6 victory for Wisconsin, the Badgers will settle down to four days of intensive drill for the Minnesota contest at Minneapolis this week.

The Gophers' overwhelming victory in their game with Iowa has done much to set Glenn Thistlethwaite's boys hustling, for everyone in the Cardinal camp appreciates that Dr. Spears has more power in this year's eleven than either Michigan or Purdue.

In keeping with predictions, the Bollermakers brought a stronger offense to Camp Randall than did the Wolverines a week previous. The game was a battle of lines and in the forward wall the Badgers had a great edge over the Phenixes. A dozen or more Wisconsin linemen were used in the game and all of them threw back the Purdue ball carriers repeatedly.

Although the Purdue running game was rendered almost useless, there was no discredit to Welch, Harmsen, Koransky and the injured "Cotton" Wilcox, a quartette of backs and big ten coach would welcome into camp. The Badger line and ends were on the big Welch, hero of the Purdue-Harvard game and stopped the Texas boy for a net yardage gain from scrimmage of 15 yards.

Again Thistlethwaite's team showed a weakness in forward pass defense. Most all of the Gold and black first down were made over-head, while the Badger advances resulted from the running game, for the most part. Capt. "Toad" Crofoot and Gene Rose carried the brunt of the attack with able assistance from both Smith and Rebholz, who alternated at fullback.

The sophomore, Rebholz, acquitted himself like a veteran, smashing the Purdue line for some substantial gains and showing great prowess on defense. Binish, at tackle, Cameron, at end, and Wilson, center, made the afternoon unpleasant for the invaders on defense. Peterson, Liney, Wingman, was started at left end and used for his punting ability early in the contest but was replaced by Cameron late in the opening quarter.

BEARS HOLD LEAD IN PRO GRID LOOP

Chicago Squad Wins Fourth Game in Row by Topping Cleveland

Chicago—(AP)—Before a crowd of 20,000 people at Wrigley field Sunday the Chicago Bears nosed out the Cleveland Bulldogs by a score of 14 to 12 and remained in undisputed position as the top team in the National Professional football league.

Benny Friedman, former Michigan captain and quarterback led the Cleveland team in a dazzling exhibition of forward passes but a safety in the first quarter was the margin of victory, both teams making two touchdowns. Chicago's north-side entry in the pro league has won four consecutive games now without even a tie to mar its record.

Red Grange sat on the sidelines at Green Bay and watched his New Yankees lose to the Packers by a 13 to 0 count before a record crowd of 20,000 persons. Injuries sustained by the former Illini flash in the game with the Bears here last week forced "Red" to remain out of the entire contest and was a big disappointment to fans throughout northern Wisconsin. The Packers remained in the chase for the flag with a record of five wins and one loss and are entrenched in second place.

The New York Giants ran roughshod over the Frankford Yellow Jacks at the polo grounds, defeating last year's championship team by a 27 to 0 score. The Giants are close behind Green Bay in the pennant chase having won four games tied one and lost one.

Ernie Nevers' Duluth team invaded Pottsville Pa. and scored four touchdowns to whitewash the local team 27 to 0. An aerial attack was responsible for all of the touchdowns.

The Providence Steamrollers scored one touchdown to beat the Dayton Triangles at Providence Sunday, 7 to 0. Passes by Wildcat Wilson, former all-American halfback of the University of Washington paved the way for the only score.

MANY RESTRICTIONS ON PASS THIS YEAR

BY E. J. O'BRIEN
An illegal pass is one that is made from a point less than five yards behind the line of scrimmage. While an incomplete pass is a forward pass that strikes the ground, either before or after having been touched by an eligible player of either side.

If a pass after having been legally passed forward from the field of play strikes the goal post or cross bar, or lands in the end zone, or strikes any obstruction or spectators in the end zone, it is incomplete.

If it crosses the side line or side line extended before touching the ground, it becomes an incomplete pass, and also shall count as a touch-back to the defenders of the goal.

The pass is also construed to be incomplete if it goes out of bounds or if it is touched by any player, who at the moment the ball was put in play, was not a yard behind the line of scrimmage or was not playing on either side of the line of scrimmage.

CANZERONI FAVORED TO WIN FROM DUNDEE

New York—Tony Canzeroni enters the ring Monday night against Johnny Dundee a decided favorite in their unofficial featherweight championship battle over 15 rounds. Odds on the youthful Brooklyn boxer have jumped from 5 to 5 to 3 to 5.

The fight is not recognized as a championship affair by the New York State Athletic commission.

The contest will be held in Madison Square garden.

UNBEATEN ELEVENS IN WESTERN CHASE MEET TOUGH RIVALS

Last Half of Schedules Are Hardest; Michigan Has Only Real Clear Record

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—The worst is yet to come for the four Western Conference football teams which have finished the first half of their schedule without a conference defeat.

Of the four Michigan holds the only unblemished record, without a defeat, tie, or point scored against her. Chicago, tied at the top with Michigan with two conference victories, suffered a non-conference setback at the hands of Oklahoma in the season opener.

Illinois was held to a tie by Iowa State, though it does not show in Big Ten records and Minnesota was tied by a desperate Indiana eleven.

Chicago and Illinois face four tough conference games, while Navy breaks the row of Big Ten opponents for Michigan. Minnesota has only two more conference games but the last one is against Michigan. The other two opponents of the Gophers are Notre Dame and Drake.

The annual struggle of Illinois and Michigan at Urbana next Saturday has the added importance this year of being the only game of the day between two unbeaten conference teams. Illinois has no Red Grange this year unless his successor has been kept carefully under cover. Michigan has no Benny Friedman, but Benny has two successors this year. Benny Costerban throws passes almost as well as Friedman and Louis Gilbert kicks fully as well.

The Minnesota team apparently found its real power since the Indiana upset. In 20 minutes last Saturday Iowa was thoroughly defeated by Capt. Herb Joesting and Shorty Almquist, who then turned the job over to capable substitutes. Wisconsin, the foe of Minnesota next Saturday, figures to be stronger and much faster than Iowa, but it will take more than light, speedy backs to stop Joesting. Chicago's first trip from home soil throws it against Ohio State at Columbus Saturday and the experts feel that it may be about time the Buckeyes began pulling together with their admittedly versatile back field.

A series of intersectional clashes fills the rest of Saturday's conference program. Indiana is meeting Harvard at Cambridge. Two Rocky mountain teams come east. Denver to engage Iowa at Iowa City and Montana State to meet Purdue at La Fayette, Ind. Missouri invades Northwestern.

The conference standing:

Michigan	2	0	1,000
Chicago	2	0	1,000
Illinois	1	0	1,000
Minnesota	1	0	1,000

Ohio State	1	2	333

FIVE ELEVENS STILL TIED IN MIDWEST RACE

Mount Vernon, Ia.—(AP)—Although first place in the Midwest Conference football championship race is somewhat crowded with five teams still defeated, Cornell made its position more secure by winning its second loop game during the past weekend.

Knox triumphed in its conference debut Saturday while in previous weeks, Coe, Carleton and Hamline have played and won but one contest, each against a member opponent.

Cornell using its strong pass attack downed Ripon by a 20 to 7 score and Knox gave Beloit its third defeat in a 19 to 7 game.

Ripon had been defeated once before. The other member teams tested themselves for a November campaign against non-conference opponents. Coe Adolphus and Lawrence fell before college won the feature event from St. Lake Forest, 12 to 0.

GEORGIA STAR TURNS DOWN JOB IN MAJORS

Athens, Ga.—"Chick" Silver is one college baseball star who doesn't care to take a fling at major league baseball.

Silver, captain of this year's football team at the University of Georgia, has turned down several offers from major league clubs.

He is an outfielder and was the hardest hitter with nearly a 400 average on the Georgia team last year. He plans a business career.

Louis University by scoring one touchdown and holding the Billikens scoreless to win 7 to 0. Carleton also promised trouble for future Midwest opponents when a varied attack overran St. Olaf, 42 to 6. Monmouth nosed out Illinois college, 7 to 0; Hamline was defeated 20 to 2 by Gustavus Adolphus and Lawrence fell before college won the feature event from St. Lake Forest, 12 to 0.

Ability to take advantage of every break gave Lake Forest a chance to spill the Lawrence Vikings, 12 to 0, in a Wisconsin-Illinois conference tilt Saturday afternoon at Lake Forest. Although Lawrence made 17 first downs and Lake Forest made but 5, all in the first half, the Catlinites were forced to bow to hard luck and accepted a coat of whitewash.

Brussat, blazed forth as a coming star in the Lawrence backfield. The sophomore back made several brilliant runs for 20 and 25 yard gains, while the consistent plugging of Barfell and Humphrey was also noticeable. Ott played a whirlwind game in the line, and although the Lawrence team was crippled by injuries, it displayed a fight that had been lacking since the Marquette game of Oct. 1.

After an exchange of punts in the opening period, Lake Forest took the ball on the Lawrence 43 yard line and marched straight down for a touchdown. Burk going over for the six-point marker. Rostowski's educated punt went awry on the try for the extra point and the score stood at Lawrence 0, Lake Forest 6. Brussat and Humphrey reeled off some yards for several Lawrence first downs, but a fumbled punt gave Lake Forest the ball.

The Lawrence machine started what looked like a victory march after that Lake Forest score, but a handful of penalties, the referee indiscriminately about, the tossed, blocked all scoring chances. Brussat reeled off yard after yard and Humphrey plugged away for one first down after another. Lawrence came was 15 yards from the goal. After Schlagenhauf had broken through for a 15-yard dash and had tossed a pass to Jessup, the big Lawrence end fumbled and Lake Forest recovered to stave off a touchdown.

The second half was all Lawrence, Lake Forest failing to make any substantial gains. A few more penalties, added to the total which was to make up 35 yards before the game was over, pushed Lawrence back in spite of a volley of first downs in the third quarter. Brussat's 25-yard run in the middle of the period brought the ball to the Lake Forest 29 yard line, and then Humphrey smacked through for an eight-yard gain. Barfell was held, but Schlagenhauf made it first down on the 18-yard line. It looked like a sure touchdown, but a Lawrence fumble intervened and Lake Forest threw back the attack with a well-directed punt.

Brussat slapped off another 20-yard dash late in the period to bring the ball 28 yards from the Lake Forest goal. After a couple of plays Schlagenhauf whipped a pass to Jessup that set the ball on the 16-yard line. Once more it looked as though the ball was going over, but after a few yards of gaining, Lawrence again fumbled and Lake Forest had the chance to punt.

Gelbke's 20-yard dash made it first down on the Lawrence 41-yard line, and after Barfell gained 5, Schlagenhauf added another first down on the Lake Forest 45. Gelbke gained 5, and after Schlagenhauf made it first down, Gelbke seeped through for 13 yards and first down on the 10-yard line. Gelbke tossed a pass to Jessup that put the ball almost on the goal line and Pierce was held on the next play. Barfell was also held, and while the teams were lined up for the next play, the final gun was sounded. Lineups:

PACKERS TROUNCE GRANGE'S GRIDMEN

Yankees, With Red on Side-lines, Victims of Bay Pass Attack

Green Bay—The greatest crowd that ever witnessed a professional football game in Wisconsin, close to 11,000 enthusiastic spectators, saw the Green Bay Packers administer a stinging 13 to 0 defeat to Red Grange's New York Yankees here Sunday afternoon in a National Football League game.

It was a close battle all the way, although the Big Bay Blues held the upper hand right from the first whistle. Only twice did the New Yorkers loom dangerous, but each of their thrusts were quashed when they got down near the Packers' 20-yard line.

GRANGE ON SIDELINES
Grange's injured leg put him out of the combat, but the Wheaton Ice-man was in uniform, accompanied by a cane. He had his famous "77" on his back and before the game started was introduced to the crowd from the center of the gridiron.

Levellin's punting was an outstanding feature of the game. The star packer back got away some sky scrapers that sailed close to 70 yards and then again he teased the New Yorkers by kicking out of bounds on their first strike.

GAINS ON EXCHANGE
Wild Bill Kelley of Montana fame, and Bullet Baker, the California flash, probably saw more "cloud high" football than ever before in their career as "cowhide chasers." It is said that Levellin must have gained at least two chalk marks on every exchange of kicks.

The Packers made both their touchdowns in the first half. Early in the opening quarter after the Bays had been stopped well down near the New York goal, Tryon punted poorly and the ball sailed out of bounds on the visitors' 35-yard line.

PENALTY IS COSTLY
Enright picked up a couple of yards. Purdy poked to Kotal for a gain of eighteen, Levellin got three around end and Kotal slashed over tackle for five.

Levellin got another five on a line split play. An offside cost the easterners half the distance to the goal, 18 inches, and then Purdy squeezed his 135 pounds over the line for a touchdown and then proceeded to kick the goal.

Toward the close of the second period, Marks got off a terrible punt and it was out of bounds on his 38 yard line. Two line plays netted little yardage but a triple pass, which had a lateral toss on the end, from Kotal to Dilweg to Levellin produced 20 yards and put the ball on New York's 2-foot stripe. Enright backed over for the touchdowns. Purdy missed the goal.

IN MILWAUKEE NEXT
The last half produced some classy football with the Packers having decided edge, but it failed to produce any more touchdowns. Three times the Big Bay Blues marched down the field only to have passes go astray in the end zone.

Next Sunday the Packers are billed to play their first out of town game of the season. Lambeau & Co. will invade Milwaukee to exhibit their football wares against Johnny Bryan's eagles.

THREE VALLEY GRIDMEN ON MARQUETTE FROSH
Three former Valley conference gridgers were stars in defeat Saturday when the Marquette university freshmen, following the example of their superiors, lost to DePaul university freshmen of Chicago, 24-0. Al Lietten 1927 all-conference center from Appleton, played right end, the position he has been working at since the season opened at Marquette. Edman, former West Green Bay guard, played center and captained the team and Irish McGuire of East high was at his old quarterback post. Glaheen, former Kaukauna lad, who was a member of the Lawrence college frosh eleven years ago, played right tackle.

SENSATIONAL JOCKEY ENDS LIFE WITH GAS
New York—(AP)—His mind clouded as the result of a spill on the Jamaica track more than two years ago, Benn Marinelli, one of the most daring jockeys the American turf ever knew, has ended his life by inhaling gas. The body was discovered Sunday by friends in a rooming house where he had taken lodging Saturday night. A note requested that his wife be released.

TENNESSEANS WORK OFTEN ON MUD FIELD

Knoxville, Tenn.—Let it be a sloppy day, says Bob Neyland, and the Vols will be prepared for it. Every now and then the Tennessee coach makes his grid squad work out on a muddy field. He has managers throw water over a section of the field, and the result is mud, and plenty of it. This practice in mud gives his center and backs ample experience in handling a pigskin on a muddy field, in case they ever have to do it.

Permission to see the body. Friends said he had been separated from his wife for the last two years.

SOPHS WIN FIRST X-COUNTRY CHASE

Warren Batley Leads Appleton High Yearlings to Victory

Sophomores were triumphant Saturday morning in the first annual fall crosscountry race of Appleton high school, when five of the first six finishers were members of the yearling class. Warren Batley, a soph, led the winners, making the course in 1:46, and he was followed by Nohr and Valley, sophs; Marston, junior; Roemer, Knoll, Kerigan and Wolgram, sophs; Fieldler, junior; Murphy, and Gilman, sophs.

Batley was awarded a silver cup, on which his name and class will be engraved. The cup will be placed in the school trophy case. The first team to represent Appleton in the first annual fall crosscountry race of the Valley conference late in November at Manitowoc will be chosen from the first six men.

AT LAST CARROLL LOSES GRID BATTLE, AND HOW!

Galesburg—Lombard defeated Carroll college at Waukesha, Wis., 19-0, in a homecoming game here Saturday. The Universalists stood out in every department of the game except punting, and made thirteen first downs to the visitors' three.

Dick Mercer, freshman from Macomb, main cog in Lombard's victory, ran around end and squirmed through the line for frequent gains. He made the first two touchdowns and Nesti put the ball across the third time. The first quarter came in the second period, when Lange fumbled Nesti's punt and Robey recovered on Carroll's 29-yard line. Mercer and Nesti took the ball down the field on runs of tackle and through the line. Nickols' place kick was blocked.

Mercer scored again in the fourth quarter on a run of guard after Lund had fumbled Nesti's punt. Nesti crossed the line a few minutes later after he and Mercer had carried the ball down the field on line plunges. Thomas kicked.

Lund had a slight advantage over Nesti on punts. Carroll completed two passes, one for 40 yards, Snyder to Dugan. Lombard tied but two passes, neither of which was completed.

WEST GREEN BAY FINDS MANITOWOC HIGHS EASY

Manitowoc—Splendid interference and spectacular forward passes enabled West Green Bay to easily defeat Manitowoc, 39 to 0, here Saturday. Manitowoc played a stalwart game, but was completely outclassed. Center Whitney of Green Bay was seriously injured in the second quarter and was taken to a hospital. Time and again Green Bay gained 20 to 30 yards on forward passes, only a few of which were intercepted. Manitowoc's passes were failures and the kicking of the locals was none too good. The visitors scored one touchdown in the first quarter, two in the second and two in the third. The first of two touchdowns in the third period was made by a pass of 30 yards.

KNOX GRIDDERS SWAMP BELOIT ELEVEN, 19-7

Beloit—In its homecoming game here Saturday Beloit lost to its Mid-West conference rival, Knox, by 19-7. The invaders scored two touchdowns in the second quarter, the first by Mann, who went over after a series of straight line smashes, and the second on a pass, Baron to Carmichael. Baron missed the first try for goal and Belsky, netted a touchdown in the final quarter, Hitchcock failing to kick for the extra point. Beloit's touchdown came in the last five seconds of play when two passes, Lawrence to Laabs, put the ball over. Lawrence kicked goal.

ATWATER KENT RADIO

1928

An announcement by A. Atwater Kent

IT IS ONLY RIGHT that purchasers should share in the results of up-to-date manufacturing methods. This is the tendency of the times.

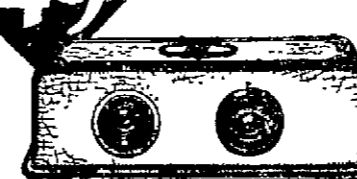

In our 15½ acre factory our production engineers and other experts, since the inception of radio, have been working out manufacturing economies, possible only with operations on a large scale.

These advancements have enabled us not only to maintain but constantly to improve the quality of Atwater Kent Radio. Therefore the public will receive the benefits of a 20 per cent average reduction on all our radio products, beginning immediately.

The new prices are in keeping with the long established Atwater Kent policy of sharing with the public the results of economies as fast as they are put into practical operation.

IRVING ZUELKE

APPLETON and NEENAH

JACK LOCKWILL, THE LION TAMER

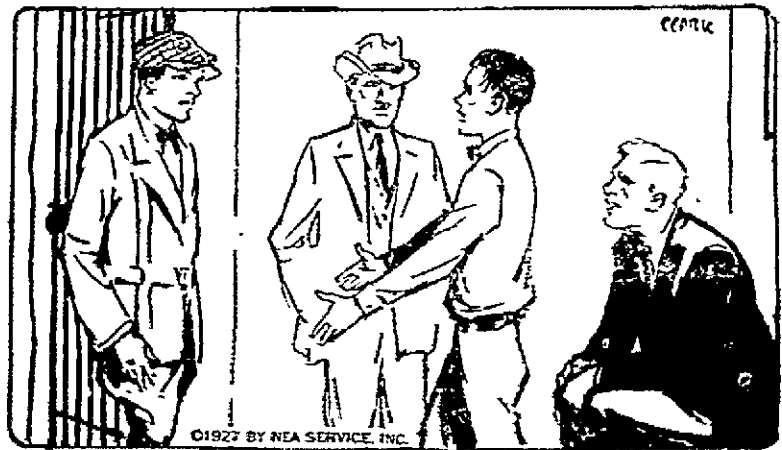

The spring-fastening of the door held, though the cage rocked beneath the impact of the lion's body. "I had a premonition," said Delano huskily, "and I was watching." Camille, springing up the steps, embraced Jack. "Thank heaven Raoul was here to open the door!" she half-sobbed, and the boy felt her arms quivering about him. "But it was your nerve that saved you, Jack."

Red Saunders, still and ghastly, was carried out on a stretcher. A doctor examined him and stated that the fall had broken his neck, and that he had died almost instantly.

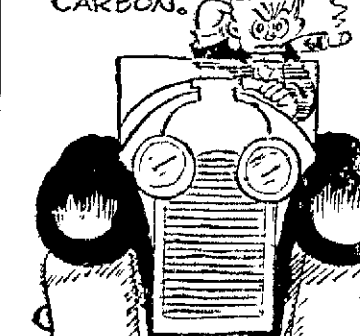

The deputy-sheriff, followed by Jack, appeared before Buke Saunders and Lizard Wattles in the lock-up. "You're a pair of lucky young rascals," said the officer.

"I've had a telegram from Brick Judge," explained Jack. "He bought Obediah Tuttle's motor car, which you ran away in, and no charge will be pressed against you. Your uncle fell and broke his neck. Buke. You are free to go anywhere, but I promised to bring Lizard back to the camps at Indian Lake, and I'm going to do it." "I'm ready to go back," said Wattles eagerly. (The End) Next story: Jack Lockwill's Forest Rangers.

LITTLE JOE

IF AT FIRST YOU DON'T SUCCEED, YOUR CAR'S FULL OF CARBON.

THE NUT CRACKER

WELL TRAINED

"I wonder who owned this car before I bought it?"

"Why?"

"Whenever it comes to a dark place on a lonely road, the engine dies." -Lutz.

JUST JINGLES

He never had a puncture, though it's a marvel how and for. The motor was, he went on foot. And didn't own a car.

He paid cash for his auto when the salary was entered in foot, the letters was this say. The only thing he charged.

Weyauwega—The installation of the playground equipment for the Weyauwega public schools has been completed. The funds were raised last March under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers association.

The equipment consists of the following: for the little folks, one 8-foot slide, four small teeters, and six small swings; for the older ones, one 12-foot wave slide, one ladder giant stride, four large teeters, four large swings, one trapeze, one turning bar, one set of flying rings; for both groups of pupils, one merry-go-round, 10 feet in diameter, which will hold between forty and fifty children.

The large wave slide was purchased by the American legion auxiliary, and the rest of the equipment by the Parent-Teachers association. Weyauwega now has one of the best equipped playgrounds in Waupaca-co.

The members of the Weyauwega Library board have engaged Mrs. Arthur Ritchie of the town of Royalton, to put on an entertainment, Friday evening, Oct. 28, at the Weyauwega high school, for the benefit of the public library. The proceeds will be used for the purchase of new books, and for other necessary expenses.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally by Drinking Quarts of Good Water

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the "filter" pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the wastes and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headache, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving the bladder distress.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications.

SEEK HIGHER CHEESE STANDARDS IN STATE

Representatives Will Ask Governor to Place Matter Before Legislature

Minneson — (P)—Governor Zimmerman may be asked by representatives of the cheese industry in the state to include in his call for a special session, an amendment to the "cheese standards statute," raising the minimum butterfat content of Wisconsin American cheese.

Such a request would be favorably received by the governor, thinks J. Q. Emery, adviser in the state dairy and food commission.

"No little disquietude has been voiced by different spokesmen of the cheese industry since the supreme court's ruling that skimmed milk may be used in the making of cheese," says Mr. Emery. "Remedial legislation has been suggested, and it is my opinion that such legislation might be obtained at the special session of the legislature."

"But prompt, decisive, united action is necessary, and I believe that if there is in the Wisconsin American cheese industry sufficient initiative, unity of purpose, and devotion to the cause of the industry, such action will be taken."

Mr. Emery points out that the supreme decision is an established fact, and must be reckoned with as such. "It is my opinion," he says, "That it places the Wisconsin American cheese industry upon a standardization basis; and it therefore behooves that industry to secure the highest practical standard for butterfat content."

Once such a standard is secured by legislative enactment it is the belief of the leaders of the American industry in the state, says Mr. Emery, "That the supreme court decision will usher in a new, unclouded, and a very prosperous day for that industry, and a continuance of the prestige of Wisconsin's American cheese."

How Much Is Your Money Worth

Toward the end of the Civil War when Confederate paper was more paper than money, a Southern officer stopped a farmer on the road and offered to buy his horse.

"I'll give you $5,000 for him—what do you say?" asked the officer.

"You go to blazes!" was the farmer's reply. "I just paid $3,000 to have him shod."

Even today, some people claim that a dollar won't go much more than half as far as it used to.

But others—the real wise ones—know that a dollar will go just as far as ever—if they give it the right start!

They're the people who watch the opportunity market in the Post-Crescent's A-B-C Classified columns every day—because their money is worth one hundred cents on the dollars because they spend it where it brings the biggest returns!

REPORT ONE DEATH DUE TO DIPHTHERIA

Four Other Cases in City—
Two Will Be Released from Quarantine This Week

One death from diphtheria was reported Saturday to Dr. F. P. Doherty, city health officer. Howard George F. Reier, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Reier, 918 N. Elsie-st., died Saturday afternoon.

The Reier youth's illness was diagnosed as diphtheria on Oct. 15, one week prior to his death. The boy stayed home from school several days before he was sent to bed and complained of feeling sick. Due to the fact that he was kept home before the case became contagious, none of the other children in the Fifth ward school were exposed.

At the present time there are four cases of diphtheria in the city and two of these will be released from quarantine this week. One is that of an 11-year-old girl. Throat cultures were taken of her classmates in St. Mary school and no contagion was found, although the child had a sore throat and was taken from school until he recovered.

The other three cases are of adults and are not serious, according to Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer. The health of the city as a whole is very good, according to Dr. Doherty. There have been some cases of intestinal influenza or sore throat, he said, but none of them was serious.

Doctors must notify the city health officer of any contagious disease within 24 hours after it has been diagnosed. Generally, when the case is serious, the health officer is notified by telephone so that he can post the quarantine signs immediately.

RESUME INQUEST IN COLLAPSE OF MILL

Testimony at Morning Session Fails to Throw Light on Cause of Disaster

ing to the dead, injured and men working in the department at the time of the collapse. He also was asked about the operation of the department and whether machinery had been in operation when the crash came. Mr. Boon testified he had been on the lower floor of the department 25 minutes before the collapse.

Mr. Davis, superintendent of construction for the R. C. Meyers and Sons construction company followed Mr. Boon. He testified that removing the old wood frames in the first floor did not weaken the walls and that the tearing down of an old wall in the basement did not in any way affect the other walls. District Attorney Lonsdorf attempted to learn whether air hammering of the walls at the time of the crash but Mr. Davis said it was impossible for him to say. He did know that two of the machines were down in the room but could not say whether they were in operation.

It was brought out by questioning that the construction superintendent did not know of arches supporting several of the walls nor did he believe it was humanly possible to ascertain whether the arches which were found to have collapsed, gave way and caused the crash or were broken following the collapse. He said that a cement floor was to be laid in the lower room preparatory to making it a machine room.

Two men who were injured in the crash George Vanheuvell and Maxine Vanheuvell were taken to the west wall stand. Previous to calling them however, the names of several more seriously injured men were called, among them Harry Wynn and Constant Wagner. It was decided that if necessary, the men be questioned at the hospital during the afternoon.

INTERVIEW INJURED
Vanheuvell testified that he was a water boy in the employ of the city at the time of the collapse and had just entered the lower room when there was a flash and he remembered no more. The witness still bore marks from cuts he had received about the face.

Verkuilen said that he was a truck driver for the Meyer company a few seconds after he backed his truck down the platform to the west wall stand. He heard a crash, saw the wall falling and then he, the truck and a portion of the bridge fell in the water. He also showed marks from cuts and walked with a limp said to be from an injured hip.

The two men will fly back to Milwaukee after the meeting.

DEFER SENTENCE OF CONFESSED FORGER

Youth Is Arrested When He Presents Check for Rental of Automobile

Harold Wirth, 18, route 5, Appleton, pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery when arraigned in municipal court Monday morning before Judge Theodore Berg. Sentence was deferred until Tuesday morning.

Wirth, who is being held in the county jail, was arrested at 7 o'clock Sunday evening by Detective Matthew McGinnis and Officer Albert Delgren.

About a week ago Wirth rented an automobile at the Jahne Rental company and gave a $50 check drawn on the First National bank, by the Rissman Wrecking company, as security for the car. The check was not cashed, however, and could not be cashed. The young man returned the car but left without making settlement, leaving the check. A complaint was made at the police department and a warning was sent out to other rental companies in the city.

Wirth entered the Gibson Rental company Sunday night and presented a check for $25, drawn on the First National bank and signed by the Rissman company. Police were notified and he was arrested and admitted later, according to George T. Prim, chief of police, that he forged the check intending to rent a car so that he could visit his friends at Neenah. He claimed he had visited Jahne's later and settled his bill there.

Jacob G. Kromer, Sr., 72, died suddenly Saturday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Haen, route 4, Grand Chute. He was born in Germany and came to this country 60 years ago settling in Outagamie-co. He spent most of his life in Kaukauna and nine years ago moved to Grand Chute to live with his daughter. His wife died 14 years ago. The survivors are one son, Jacob, Jr., of Appleton; five daughters, Mrs. Peter St. Mitchell of Kaukauna, Mrs. Fred Freeman of Leona, Mrs. Charles Ristau of Fond du Lac, Mrs. Henry Haen of Grand Chute and Mrs. Edward Kramer of Kaukauna; 30 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren. The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the home of his daughter in the town of Grand Chute and at 1:45 from First Methodist church at Kaukauna. Burial will be in the Kelo cemetery at Kaukauna. Mr. Kromer was a member of the Kaukauna Odd Fellows lodge and members of the lodge will act as pallbearers.

EDWARD WOLFRAM

Word was received by Mr. and Mrs. Gust Whitefoot of the death of Edward Wolfram, 59, of Watertown, which occurred Sunday morning in a Madison hospital. Mr. Wolfram was born and raised in Appleton and lived here until about 19 years ago, when he moved to Watertown. He is survived by his widow, one son, Herbert, and one daughter, Violet. Mrs. Whitefoot left for Watertown, where she will attend the funeral Wednesday afternoon.

HOWARD GEORGE REIER

Howard George F. Reier, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Reier, 918 N. Elsie-st., died at 2:30 Saturday afternoon after a week's illness from diphtheria. The survivors are his parents, one sister Thelma and a grandfather and grandmother. Charles Reier of Appleton and Mrs. Mary Zachow of Appleton. The funeral was held at 10 o'clock Monday morning from the home with interment in Riverside cemetery. The Rev. W. R. Wetzel of St. John church conducted services at the grave.

JOHN ASHAUER

The funeral of John Ashauer was held Monday morning from the Schommer funeral home at 9:30 and from Holy Angels church at Darby at 10 o'clock. The hearers were members of the Van Zooy, past of the American Legion and the honorary pall bearers were members of the St. Joseph society of Holy Angels church. The Rev. Hueslein conducted the services. Interment was in Holy Angeles cemetery.

HOME OWNERS SEEKING PERMITS FOR GARAGES

Five of the eight building permits for extending back by 10 ft. and widening by 10 ft. for construction of garages. Permits were taken out for construction estimated to cost $8,330. One permit was granted for construction of a glass porch and two were for residences.

BIG DISTILLERY IS FOUND BY RAIDERS

Three 75-Gallon Stills, 1,000 Gallons of Mash Are Found by Sheriff

One of the largest moonshine distilleries ever found in Outagamie-co was destroyed Monday morning when Sheriff Otto J. Zuehlke and state prohibition officers raided a plant set up in the Blueberry marsh in the town of Liberty. The sheriff's office expects to make several arrests in a few days.

Three stills with a capacity of 75 gallons each were found by the raiding party, together with 1,000 gallons of mash, considerable alleged moonshine, gasoline burners, sugar and glucose. The plant is said to have had a capacity of about 100 gallons daily. The still was located beside a spring, from which water was drawn. The latest model heating plant was discovered by the raiders, when it was found that gasoline burners were used in the operation. The fact that these show no smoke probably proved the distillers to use them. Sheriff Zuehlke said.

OFFER $50 REWARD FOR CAPTURE OF 2 ROBBERS

Reward of $50 is offered for the capture of two men who robbed the Kneeland-McClurg Lumber company store at Morse on Oct. 13 of $200 in cash and $1,200 in checks made out to that company, according to word received Monday by Sheriff Otto Zuehlke. The checks stolen were numbered from 40,362 to 40,365. The two men were about 35 years of age, weighed between 160 and 170 pounds and were about five feet seven inches tall. Both had very dark complexion and spoke broken English. One wore heavy gray woolen trousers and an old gray jumper and a cap while the other wore a black hat and blue coat. Notice of the reward was sent out by Sheriff Edward Normandy of Ashland, Co.

LEGION BOWLERS START TO ORGANIZE LEAGUE

Organization of the American legion bowling league for the fall and winter was started Monday by Lester Smith, Oney Johnson post athletic officer. Every legion man interested in bowling, who is not already signed for a team has been requested to get in touch with Mr. Smith or C. O. Baetz, post commander, immediately.

The post will have an 8-team league this year, rolling at 9 o'clock Wednesday evenings at Elk alleys. The schedule will start on Wednesday evening, Nov. 2.

CAROLINE FARMER IS KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Clintonville—Word was brought to Clintonville friends on Saturday of the tragic death of Albert Tews, about two miles north of Caroline, who lost his life while blasting stumps on his farm on Friday. Evidence seemed to indicate that he had returned to investigate, when a charge of dynamite failed to explode and that he reached the spot just in time to receive the full charge. His head and entire body being shattered in the explosion. His wife died about four years ago, and he leaves four daughters, two married, and two younger daughters. The funeral was held at Caroline on Sunday.

OFFICER WILL INSPECT LOCAL NATIONAL GUARD

Informal inspection of Co. D, 137th Infantry, Wisconsin National guard, will take place Friday evening, according to Capt. E. F. Grundeman, commanding officer. Because of the Oney Johnston post, American legion, festival at the Armory, the inspection will be limited to the Armory, the property of the company and its records, and the men will be formally inspected later. Colonel Edgar W. Caldwell of the inspector general's department of the Wisconsin National guard, will examine the local property.

Thirteen of the local guardsmen took part in a shoot at the rifle range

RESERVISTS WARNED AGAINST PACIFISTS

President of D. A. R. Says
National Patriotism Is Being Undermined

Milwaukee—(P)—Reserve officers of the U. S. Army in convention here were admonished regarding the work of the pacifist and were urged to utilize the intellectual powers of the women of the nation in keeping democracy and the home intact, in an address by Mrs. Alfred J. Brouseau, president general of the daughters of the American Revolution.

After expressing her appreciation for being the only woman to be invited to address the officers' meeting, she endorsed the reservists as those upon whom "rests heavily the great responsibility of sustaining and vitalizing the national defense act of 1920." She urged them to create public sentiment "and arouse the senate and congress to the need of sufficient appropriations" for national defense pointing out that $18,575,159 was appropriated by the federal government for ships, while "women spent $75,000,000 for permanent waves alone."

Mrs. Brouseau denounced a proposition "submitted to a supposedly public body" of an annual appropriation by Congress of $100,000,000 for establishment of national peace department, saying that such proposals are made by young people of the nation had a bad influence on their beliefs and disbeliefs.

She urged that the nation's young people be educated against pacifism and toward defense of their country and homes, denouncing allegedly improper history books in which the Continental Army is called a group of misadventured men and national heroes are shown as the federalists.

She warned against too much "international-mindedness" for America which might develop "the primal keynote of peace at any price with America signing the check."

PAVING CONTRACTORS
HELPED BY WEATHER

Lake-rod Job Will Be Completed Next Week if Sunshine Continues

Warm weather has permitted resumption of paving operations in this section of the state with the result that all projects will be completed before cold weather sets in. In the northern section, in Langlade and Ontonagon, several pavement jobs it was believed would not be finished this year have been completed and will be open to traffic as soon as the drying out period is over.

One of these projects, a nine mile stretch from Bass lake to the Ontonago line was completed early in the week. Another stretch will be completed in the next few days while only a half mile remains to be done on a third project. The pavement between Anigo and Neva and Summit lake and Elcho is now open to travel.
The W. J. Driscoll company, which has the paving contract for Lake-rod will finish their job within the week, it is said. The heavy rains of a few weeks ago halted operations when about half the stretch had been laid.
With the advent of seasonable weather again the work has been rushed to a point where only a small stretch remains.

BALANCE IN STATE'S TREASURY UNCHANGED

Madison—(P)—Approximately the same amount of money remained in the state treasury on Oct. 1, as was in the vaults Sept. 1, Solomon Levitan, state treasurer said Thursday.
The balance of all funds was $13,- 254,577.49 on the first of the month and on Sept. 1 it was $13,253,422.59.
Balance in the general funds were,
September 1, $10,755,935.97 and October 1 $10,775,066.65.

Cosmetics, including sticks of graphite, possibly used as eyebrow pencils, lumps of ochre, and receptacles containing rouge used by women centuries ago, have been found in excavations in lower Austria.

JOHN D. AS HE IS TODAY

John D. Rockefeller recently for the first time permitted his picture to be taken as he played golf on his private course in Westchester county, New York. This likeness was the result of a photographer's hours of tireless effort. The financier who is 55, soon will be leaving Pocantico Hills for his winter home at Ormond, Fla.

Volume On Lead District
Is Prepared By Society

Madison—(P)—The state historical society is preparing another volume of the Wisconsin Domesday books, this one to deal with the lead mining district of southwestern Wisconsin in its early period, around 100 years ago.
The last volume, issued in August, dealt with the southeastern portion of the state. It is called Four Wisconsin Counties, Prairie and Forest, and covers in their rural phases the history of Kenosha, Racine, Milwaukee and Ozaukee-cos. Two of these were prairie and two heavily wooded, which gives occasion for the subtitle 'Prairie and Forest.'

The next volume will deal with the counties of Grant, Iowa and Lafayette, commonly known as the lead region counties.

This section's history is deemed interesting by the society by reason of the combination of mining and agriculture over large portions of it, and also because of the distinctive waves of settlement by people of different origin. The original mining settlers came from Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, and southern Illinois.

Subsequently a wave of population reached the region from northeastern states. Then came the immigration of Cornish miners.

All the time other foreign elements
—the Irish and the Germans, particularly—were occupying lands mainly for agricultural purposes. While there is no such clear demarcation between prairie and forest in the lead counties as there was in the four lake-shore counties, there is a prairie region separated sharply from the deep-

Leading Local Citizen Changed
His Mind In A Week's Time

Dreco's quick action in relieving stomach distress, rheumatism and headaches surprised him.

"I never had any faith in advertised remedies but when I was unable to get relief in any other way I tried Dreco and in a week's time this wonderful medicine proved that it was just what my system needed," is the strong endorsement given by Mr. W. M.
Laur, 1209 East Wisconsin-Ave., a prominent retired business man in a recent talk with the Dreco man.

"For years I suffered greatly with my stomach in spite of the fact that I had but little appetite. Everything
I ate fermented and formed gas, sour acids would rise in my throat and I had a bad case of heartburn. My bowels were very sluggish and I suffered severely with headaches and rheumatism.

"The Dreco treatment has made an entirely new man of me. I've gained six pounds in weight, have a fine appetite and can eat most anything without suffering with my stomach afterward. My bowels are regular, I sleep soundly all night long, the headaches and rheumatism have disappeared and, in fact, I feel better in everyway than I have in years."

Dreco is being specially introduced by Schlitz Bros. Drug Store and sold by druggists everywhere. adv.

MAYOR IS INVITED TO MEETING AT CHICAGO

Mayor A. C. Rule has been invited to attend a meeting of mayors in Chicago Dec. 12 to 15 to formulate the National Air Ports association. The meeting has been called by William Fife Thompson, mayor of Chicago, who declared that Chicago is desirous of establishing an air line connections with all important American cities and cannot do so unless the cities have airports. The purpose of the National association will be to install as many airports as possible in cities throughout the United States. The association will publish information on size construction conditions of airports, identification signals and other pertinent facts dealing with airports.

The human skull continues to grow until about the age of 20.

Good Therapeutics

Therapeutics seems to be a classification of treatments that effect cures through influence on the mind as well as effect on the body.

An attractive nurse is good therapeutics.

Even the rare nurse who tries, cannot be impersonal in her attendance. If she is not a good influence over the patient she is an unfavorable one.

PAUL JONES Nurses' Costumes make attractive nurses. Our new styles in them show that even in the regulation dress of a nurse, there can be marked individual style.
